Newspaper Asserts Defenders Told To Blow Up Fort as Last Resort.

WASHINGTON 'WATCHFUL'

Senator Doubts Any Immediate Action By U. S.; Vichy Disclosure Awaited.

(By Associated Press)

VICHY, Unoccupied France —Reports given publicity in German-occupied Paris said today that defense forces in the French Caribbean island of Martinique had received orders to prepare for an American attack.

The newspaper Le Matin, published in Paris, said yesterday that defense of Martinique would be centered around the fortress holding gold reserves of the Bank of France and that its defenders would blow up the stronghold as a last resort.

Martinique defense works are being strengthened, the newspaper said.

U. S. Adopts Policy Of Watchfulness

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States, informed officials indicated today, will pursue a "watchful waiting" policy regarding Martinique and other French possessions in the western hemisphere until the Vichy government formally discloses the extent of the future "collaboration" it plans with Nazi Germany.

Chairman George (D., Ga.) of the senate foreign relations committee, expressed doubt that any immediate move would be made, explaining there had been no indication that the status of the French colonies on this side of the Atlantic had been changed by the Franco-German understanding.

Pending some concrete evidence that France's new world possessions would be affected, George said that it probably would be in-

STORMS TODAY DUE TO BREAK RECORD HEAT

Mercury Climbs to 90, Highest For Year In Mansfield; All of State Swelters.

TWO BOYS DROWNED

Youths Die While Swimming; Weatherman Says Showers Will Arrive Tonight.

Thundershowers in northern and central Ohio this afternoon and tonight are expected to end the season's first heat wave which sent temperatures to new records in Mansfield and other Ohio cities yesterday and threatened even higher marks today.

The mercury stood at 90 degrees at noon today, highest of the season. The reading was believed one of the highest ever recorded here for this time of year.

The unseasonable heat brought two drownings in the state, one a boy playing "hookey" from school. The victims were James Nettleton who drowned in the Scioto river at Columbus and Delbert Ray Johnson who stepped into a deep hole in Buck creek at Springfield. Both boys were nine years old. Officers said the Nettleton boy stayed out of school to play in the river.

The weatherman said showers in the northern half of the state will be followed by cooler weather Friday, but the relief is expected to be short-lived.

Highest mark in Ohio was 96 degrees yesterday at Cincinnati. Close behind were Fremont with 95, Springfield with 94, and Sandusky and Youngstown both reporting 93 degrees.

The mercury soared to 90 in Cleveland, but thundershowers last night cooled the Lake Erie city. Showers also were reported in Youngstown.

Most Ohio points, however, had higher readings this morning than at the corresponding time Wednesday, indicating the mercury would set new records during the day.

The heat increased fears of a widespread drought in the middlewest. H. C. Ramsower, director of agricultural extension service at Ohio State university, said there will be heavy damage to crops in the state unless rain comes soon in big quantities. The year's deficiency of rainfall in Columbus is more than seven inches, he pointed out.

British Fleet Kills Attempt To Land Men

'Sky Troops' Gain Footholds Along Malemi Sector and In Candia; Churchill Says Fighting Grows More Intense.

(By Associated Press)

German aerial invaders, striking with increasing violence, gained two footholds on the Isle of Crete today, but the British reported officially that the British fleet has smashed attempts to land Nazi seaborne troops on the island.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill told the house of commons in London that Nazi parachute troops were in possession of the town of Candia, in the middle of Crete.

British middle east headquarters in Cairo coincidentally reported that the German "sky troops" had gained a temporary foothold in the Malemi sector, 15 miles south of Canea, the Crete capital, seat of King George II's Greek government.

"The fighting is continuing with intensity," Churchill said. "The Germans are using large numbers of parachutists and these are being increased daily."

The prime minister said that, "although the situation is in hand, the Germans have gained some local successes at heavy cost."

He announced that the Germans began "very much larger attempts" at naval landing today and that a convoy of 30 German ships en route to Crete was sighted this morning "and presumably was attacked, although my information stops at that point."

Simultaneously, the British delivered a stiff warning to the French government at Vichy that if France pursues her "declared policy of collaboration with Germany, British forces will strike" the enemy . . . without any distinction between occupied and unoccupied territory."

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, advising parliament on the possibility of open hostilities between the Allies of less than a year ago, declared the Vichy government had "embarked on a course which must place the resources and territories of France increasingly at the disposal of Germany."

In the heightening three-day-old battle of Crete, the British said two German transports and a number of Greek boats headed for the British-defended island were sunk by British warships.

Empire headquarters in Cairo said losses among Nazi 'chute and air-borne troops were "even heavier than before."

German gains were described as only isolated successes.

"By nightfall, the situation was satisfactory in every area except Malemi," the communique.

In that sector, it declared, operations to deal with the Germans "are now in progress."

German reports previously indicated that the British fleet had Battleships Start Exercises In Beirut, But Little Hostility Shown.

BULLETIN

LONDON —(AP)— Britain warned the Vichy government today that if France pursues her "declared policy of collaboration" with Germany, British forces will strike "the enemy wherever he may be found" without "any distinction between occupied and unoccupied territory."

JERUSALEM —(AP)— French troops are on the move in Syria and Lebanon and long-idle French warships in Beirut harbor have started exercises — lending point to the declaration by high commissioner General Henri Dentz that his army of the east was ready to meet force with force.

On the other hand, little hostility toward the British is to be found in these French-mandated territories of the middle east, and although the army generally is counted as loyal to General Dentz, some "free French" sentiment is known to exist.

(Reuters, British News agency, and Radio Brazzaville, "free French" station in French Equatorial Africa, reported that a full

Galion Youth Killed as Car Hits Bridge; Mansfielder In Critical Condition.

One person was killed and two were seriously injured in automobile accidents yesterday and today in Mansfield and vicinity.

Carl Herman Phillips, 20, of Galion, was killed when his car struck a bridge abutment on U. S. Route 30-S ten miles west of Galion at 2:30 a. m. today.

Phillips was returning from Columbus where he had taken a friend, Catherine Powers, of Galion, following the funeral of Miss Power's grandmother in Galion yesterday.

Phillips was thrown from the car which subsequently caught fire. Details concerning the cause of the accident are unknown.

Scott Haislett, 42, Galion restaurant proprietor, sustained severe scalp lacerations yesterday afternoon, when he swerved his car to avoid a collision with another vehicle, drove through a ditch. His automobile overturned several times.

The accident occurred on U. S. Route 30-S two miles east of the

Truce Fails at Arms Plant, Men Still Idle

BULLETIN

RAVENNA—(UP)—The army announced today that because of a strike of 5,000 laborers all construction work on the government's $35,000,000 ammunition loading plant here has been halted until the arsenal reservation is "peaceably cleared of the agitators causing this stoppage of work."

(By Associated Press)

A hitch developed today in a truce supposed to end an unauthorized strike of 5,000 AFL laborers at the $30,000,000 Ravenna shell-loading plant, and the men failed to return to work.

Laborers appeared outside the arsenal as if intending to resume work, but were still idle two hours after their regular starting time.

Captain Earl D. Payne, army public relations officer, said a plan had been approved earlier whereby strikers would return to their jobs for 10 days, pending consideration of demands for an increase in laborers' pay from 65 to 90 cents an hour.

Failure of the truce was not explained immediately.

The Wednesday morning walkout was termed "100 per cent unauthorized" by Kenneth Statler, business agent of the AFL International Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers Union. The union subsequently announced it would not support demands of any workers who failed to return under the truce.

The work stoppage was the second in two weeks at the plant, which was expected to start loading shells July 1. A recent walkout of AFL carpenters was settled with a new wage scale of $1.37½ an hour, an increase of 25 cents.

GIFT FOR CITY

Empire Would Donate Ball Park Land on West Fourth.

The Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company today offered to deed the City of Mansfield the Empire ball park, formerly known as Davey field, to be used for park, recreational or highway purposes.

J. M. Hill, president of the company, made the offer in a letter addressed to council saying that the land was extended "as an evidence of our desire to co-operate" in building the city's park system.

The letter said that there were no limitations as to the use of the land but suggested that it be used for park or recreation purposes or possibly for a beautification project in connection with the elimination of the Baltimore and Ohio grade crossing on West Fourth street.

Council will be asked to consider the offer at its meeting June 3. The steel company would pay all transfer fees and taxes for the first half of this year, if the grant is accepted by the city.

The land offered lies between Fourth street and the B. and O. railroad and Casino park.

ASK 4 BILLIONS MORE FOR ARMS

Defense Officials Want War Department to Get Funds For Tanks and Planes.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Defense officials are pressing the war department to seek an additional $4,000,000,000 to $5,000,000,000 for planes and tanks over and above the already huge procurement programs for these weapons, congressional sources declared today.

This would mean that the nation's present 36,000-a-year plane goal could be stepped up to around 100,000-a-year and that the output of tanks could be doubled.

While no official estimates have yet been submitted to congress, department officials have told members this is "in the air." The plan, if it is carried out, would be to tack the enormous increase onto the regular war department appropriation bill which is being considered by an appropriation sub-committee.

This bill already totals some $6,500,000,000 and if the proposed plane-tank addition is made it will swell almost to the record

BLAST AT PLANT KILLS WORKMAN

$2,000 Damage Caused by Toledo Paint Mixer Explosion.

TOLEDO—(U.P.)—An explosion in a paint mixer was blamed today for an explosion in the Willys-Overland plant which killed a workman and caused $2,000 damage.

The victim was Joseph Knakiewicz, 29. Two other workers suffered facial burns.

Knakiewicz was working at the mixer alone in a paint and oil storage room when the blast happened yesterday. District Chief James Conmay of the federal bureau of investigation said he found no evidence of sabotage. The company has several defense contracts.

British Intercept French Oil Tanker In Atlantic.

LONDON —(AP)— British naval patrols have intercepted in the Atlantic the French tanker Scheherezade, bound for Casablanca, North Africa, with a cargo of oil from a United States port, it was learned from officials in London today.

British authorities granted the Scheherezade a navicert "some time ago" to carry the cargo, it was stated, but "actions of the last day or so by the Vichy government, particularly in Syria, had a very sharpening effect, not only in London but in Washington.

The 13,467-ton vessel, one of the largest oil tankers in the world, left Houston, Texas, on May 10 for an unannounced port. She had been repaired at New Orleans where she tied up after the fall of France.

OHIO HAS 168 TO SQUARE MILE

State Ranks Eighth In Nation In Population Density.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— With a population of 168.0 per square miles, Ohio ranked eighth among the 48 states in density of population in 1940.

The figures were contained in a census bureau statement which showed Rhode Island at the head of the column and Nevada at the bottom.

Population of the United States, including the District of Columbia, 131,669,275 on 2,977,128 square miles in 1940, making the population per square mile 44.2 in 1940, compared with 41.1 in 1930.

RELEASE DUE

Ashlanders To Be Freed By Nazis Soon, Berlin Says.

Early release of four Ashland residents along with 36 other American missionaries rescued from the sunken Egyptian liner Zamzam was promised today by Germany, according to United Press dispatches from Berlin.

Rev. and Mrs. Curtis Morrill, their four-year-old daughter, Elaine, and 16-month-old son, John Stephen, are being held at Saint Jean de Luz, on the French coast near Spain. They were en route from New York to Cape Town, Africa, returning to a Brethren church mission post in French equatorial Africa, at the time of the ship's sinking. The family had been spending an 18-month furlough in Ashland.

"All of the missionaries and nurses obviously will be permitted to leave as soon as their credentials have been proved genuine," it was said.

American officials have gone to Saint Jean de Lux to interview the 140 Americans being held there. The status of 24 American ambulance volunteers en route to join Free French forces in Africa was not yet defined.

FUNDS ARRIVE

County Schools Get $92,867 to Relieve Money Crisis.

Mansfield and Richland county schools, some of which are hard-pressed for funds to complete the term, will receive $92,867 in state foundation money within the next day or two, State Education Director E. N. Dietrich announced today.

The allocation, representing the second distribution of state school money for 1941, will give the county schools $49,501 and Mansfield schools $43,866. Shelby schools will get $13,373.

Boyd Robinson, county superintendent of schools, said a number of the rural schools have exhausted their funds and were beginning to wonder whether they would be able to pay all their bills by the end of the school term this month.

Supt. W. L. Miller of Mansfield schools was in Columbus yesterday to inquire about when money would be available for the city schools.

ACCEPTS APPEAL

Supreme Court Will Hear Case of Widow Left Only $1.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—The Ohio supreme court yesterday agreed to hear arguments in the appeal of Mrs. Catherine Brown from a Stark county appellate court decision which denied her $4,500 from the estate of her late husband, Jesse B. Brown.

Brown had left his widow $1 in his will and the amount was increased to $4,800 in Stark county probate court. The decision of this court was overruled by the appellate court.

GET 10 PER CENT RAISE

TROY —(AP)— Some 1,500 employes of the Hobart Manufacturing company at Dayton and Troy will receive a 10 per cent increase in wages starting June 1. The board of directors voted the increase yesterday, saying it would add $300,000 to the annual pay roll.

Traffic System Mapped for Physical Education Drills

Drivers of cars bringing children and relatives to Mansfield's first city-wide physical education demonstration in which more than 4,500 school children will participate Friday at 7:30 p. m., received their instructions for traffic and parking today from Police Chief Meade K. Bates.

Bates announced that his department had laid out a traffic plan to avoid confusion and to facilitate the flow of traffic around Stadium field where the demonstration will be held.

The department's plan will designate special streets for parking vehicles entering from Park avenue west and others for cars from Fourth street.

State highway patrolmen will assist in the direction of traffic.

Police supervision will begin at 6 p. m. As soon as a street has been filled for parking, it will be blocked off, according to Bates. Cars will park on both sides of the street facing the same direction as they enter the street.

The schedule will be as follows: Autos entering from Park avenue west will park both sides headed north of West Park drive and west of Virginia avenue on West Park drive. Vehicles from Fourth street will park facing south on Ausdale avenue, south on Brickman avenue, and west on West Third street and Linden road.

In leaving the demonstration, autos which entered from Park avenue west will leave by way of Fourth street and those entering from Fourth street will leave by way of Park avenue west.

The Mansfield Rapid Transit company has offered to donate 15 buses for transporting children from their schools to the stadium.

PLAN BLACKOUT

Newark to Douse Lights In First Major Test Sunday Night.

NEWARK, N. J. —(INS)— In the first test of its kind in a major municipality on the eastern seaboard, city officials announced today that Newark would have a "blackout" on Sunday night.

Planned by Newark's defense council, the test will last 45 minutes, beginning shortly before midnight, and will be observed by army officials from Washington and leaders of other municipalities.

OHIOAN WINS

Milan Youth Named for Work In 4-H Club Contest.

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—The National Committee on Boys and Girls club work today announced central section winners of the 1940 National 4-H farm, home and crops enterprise accounting contest.

Charles H. Benrud, Goodhue, Minn., and James H. Limbrid, jr., Milan, O., were central section national winners in the farm records phase, and Laura Burbank, Madrid, Neb. was national winner in the home accounts section.

Porch Says He'll Try Again To Get Action on Rate Pact

Another effort to obtain his committee's action on the five-year contract offer of the Ohio Public Service company reducing domestic light rates was promised today by Russell D. Porch, chairman of council's utilities committee.

Porch said that the elimination of the question of whether the authority of the Ohio Public Utilities commission would be suspended by the contract had done a "great deal to simplify the problem."

City Solicitor M. D. Ward, jr., told the committee yesterday that the commission's regulations would still bind the company if the contract were signed. This had been a controversial question at most committee meetings since late March when the contract was referred to it.

Porch said that he was planning to call a meeting of the committee for tomorrow night, if possible, and that he believed that some definite action should be taken.

The company has offered the city a contract to supply electric at a saving of $70,000 annually. Council members have objected to the practice of signing a binding contract for five years which would remove the state commission's regulation of the rates within the five years. The commission, however, must approve the contract before it goes into effect.

GERMANS TAKE TWO BASES ON GREEK ISLAND

British Fleet Kills Attempt To Land Troops By Sea; Fighting Grows.

swung into action in the defense of Crete, asserting that Air Marshal Hermann Goering's Luftwaffe, aided by Fascist torpedo planes, damaged a British battleship, six cruisers and a destroyer in the eastern Mediterranean.

The British radio said the Germans might now be drawing on a second air-borne division—making 14,000 Nazi air troops involved in the momentous struggle—and admitted the possibility also that the Germans might be attempting to land tanks from boats.

In Berlin, a Nazi spokesman challenged British reports of big German losses in the conflict, declaring:

"We will tell the whole story soon, and the world then may judge what actually was accomplished in the region of the Mediterranean.

Cairo dispatches said 1,000 Nazis were killed or captured in the first day's fighting.

The Berlin radio broadcast a Baghdad report that Iraq planes—now said to be heavily reinforced by the German luftwaffe—had executed surprise attacks on a British airdrome at Amman, the capital of British-mandated Transjordan, which adjoins both Syria and Iraq.

"This was the first Iraq air attack against a British stronghold outside Iraq," the German broadcast said.

Meanwhile, officially unconfirmed reports said Gen. Charles de Gaulle's British-aided "Free French" troops were advancing into Syria and Palestine.

If true, this would mean that the Allies had seized the initiative on land, striking into the French-ruled colony next door to Iraq before the expected arrival of German troops. Nazi military—and possibly troops—were reported rolling by train through Turkey en route to the developing Middle East war theater.

As a further indication that Great Britain intends to make a desperate fight to halt Germany's march to the east, BBC reported that contingents of Australian and New Zealand troops had strongly reinforced the British garrison on the island of Cyprus, off Syria, 350 miles east of Crete.

As viewed by the British, if the Germans take Crete, their next attack will fall on Cyprus in a drive to establish a "bridge" across the eastern Mediterranean to Syria.

Reuters, British news agency, and radio Brazzaville, "Free French" station in French Equatorial Africa, both reported that "Free French" troops were driving into Syria from Palestine and that a full regiment of French regulars in Syria was believed to have deserted to join the de Gaullists.

Countering British maneuvers French troops were reported on the march in Syria and adjacent French-mandated Lebanon, and long-idle French warships began exercises in the harbor at Beirut—pointing up a warning by French high commissioner Gen. Henri Dentz that Syria's army was ready "to meet force with force."

Two other developments, taken together, stirred speculation that Germany may be preparing to "seal up" occupied France against foreign eyes—possibly with a view to making final moves for the long-heralded attempt to invade England.

1. The Germans announced that all nations have been asked to close their embassies and legations in Paris, in occupied France, and shift them to unoccupied Vichy.

2. Field Marshal Walther von Brauchitsch, commander in chief of the German army, arrived in Pgacus on an undisclosed mission.

At the same time, a Berlin spokesman scoffed at the theory that the assault on Crete was a full-dress rehearsal for an attempt to invade the British Isles.

"The water jump to Crete has frequently been compared to the English channel crossing by amateur military strategists," the spokesman said. "But it is not German practice to make its military plans too transparent.

"There are important differences in the strategic situations," he went on. "For instance, Crete is four times as far from the European mainland as is England."

Crete is about 75 miles from the Greek mainland; England is about 20 miles from the European continent at the narrowest channel point, between Dover and Calais.

Bad weather brought a flat lull in the western air war but the British reported a successful raid against the German naval base at Helgoland and against a power station and oil refineries near Bethune, German-occupied France, in daylight yesterday.

They acknowledged the loss of two bombers and six fighters in these assaults but claimed destruction of five German fighter planes at the same time.

British Blast Axis Columns in Libya

(By Associated Press)

WITH BRITISH DESERT FORCES, in North Africa—The Royal Air Force has unloosened its most intensive effort of the desert war so far against concentrations and transport columns in Libya.

In the past thirty hours, the British say, eight German planes have been destroyed—five on the ground and three in the air—and an ammunition dump and gasoline dump have been exploded.

As flight after flight of British bombers showered missiles through the day and night, RAF fighter planes skimmed over the roads and desert trails sending thousands of incendiary bullets into Axis vehicles.

German aviation in the desert is described by the British as remaining strangely inactive. Among steps to counter the British air offensive, however, the Nazis are said to have stationed tanks at regular intervals along the roads and trails to shoot at low-flying, strafing British planes.

LOSES ACCOUNT

Strike Threat Hits Municipal Light Plant at Columbus.

COLUMBUS —(INS)— The Columbus municipal light plant, already subjected to two recent strikes and threatened with a third, lost its second major account due to the uncertainty of its service.

The Ward Baking company, a $6,000 customer, transferred to the service of the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric company, following the example of the David Davies Packing company, a $30,000 consumer.

tion Operators and Helpers Union (AFL) struck in seven service stations operated by the B. F. Goodrich company, the Goodyear Tire & Rubber company, and the Firestone Tire & Rubber company over an undefined wage issue.

The Gasoline Truck Drivers Union (AFL) called a strike of transport drivers, who operate trucks to bulk stations in a 90-mile radius.

The two AFL unions decided not to call out station attendants and drivers in Cuyahoga county pending added parleys. They seek a 15 per cent boost in wages ranging from $95 to $151.25 a month and an increase from three to four cents in the margin for lessee dealers.

A strike of the International Longshoremen's Union (AFL) in Cleveland against the Cleveland Stevedore company, the Lederer Terminal Warehouse company and the National terminals corporation tied up docking of merchandise from package freighters, and kept 75 stevedores idle.

John McCloud, union business agent, said the strike resulted from failure of the companies to negotiate new contracts to replace those which expired May 1.

The national mediation board prepared today to act for a second time in the soft coal wage controversy, while in some other labor disputes tension appeared to be easing.

Contract negotiations between the CIO United Mine Workers and the southern Appalachian operators were broken off in New York yesterday, with both sides issuing sharp public statements.

The union and southern operators were to appear before the mediation board at Washington tomorrow morning, and the northern operators and the union Saturday. After a general work stoppage throughout the industry in April, the northern operators agreed to increase wages from $6 to $7 a day, and the southerners entered a temporary agreement to raise the basic wage from $5.60 to $6.60, but were unwilling to eliminate the 40-cent sectional differential as the union demanded.

A longshoremen's strike at Buffalo, N. Y., was reported ended. The AFL longshoremen switched from a previous stand and decided to accept a pay increase of 7½ cents an hour which had been awarded by a federal arbitrator who was called into the dispute involving two Great Lakes package freight lines.

Three of the 11 San Francisco bay shipyards which had been closed for 12 days by a machinists' strike were reopened yesterday when AFL craftsmen crossed picket lines established by the striking AFL and CIO machinists. There was a question, however, how long the three yards could operate without machinists, and no attempt was made yesterday to reopen the other eight struck plants.

The strikers want $1.15 an hour and retention of double pay for overtime. The shipyard operators offered $1.12 and time and one half for overtime.

Production at the Hudson Motor Car company's three Detroit plants was resumed today, exactly a week after the United Automobile Workers (CIO) called a strike for wage increases.

An agreement approved by 3,000 to 4,000 members of UAW-CIO Local 150 yesterday afternoon provided for an eight-cent hourly raise for the company's 8,500 workers. The union had demanded a 15-cent hourly raise.

regiment of French regulars in Syria was believed to have deserted to join "free French" troops declared to be advancing into Syria from Palestine.)

Highways are guarded and blocked but the borders remain open and there is no blackout in the cities despite British bombings of airfields used by the Germans in sending help to Iraq. General Dentz has protested these bombings as acts of aggression.

His broadcast warning to the British, in which he said Syria would not "endanger its just cause by aggressive actions" but stood "ready to meet force with force," was interpreted as an indication of a prior French-German agreement permitting Nazi use of airports in Syria and Lebanon.

I heard the hope widely expressed during my trip through Syria and Lebanon from Turkey that these lands would be spared conflict beyond that at the airdromes and many natives openly expressed delight at the discomfiture of the French in the current situation.

There is talk of an infiltration of German "tourists" but foreigners to whom I talked said they had seen no indication that any Nazis were present, except aviators.

Calls 'Goodbye' To Her Husband, Leaps to Death

NEW YORK—(AP)—After calling "goodbye John" to her husband of eight months, blond Frances Stutz Huppman, former showgirl and beauty contest winner, fell or jumped from the terrace of a fifty-floor penthouse apartment at West 75th street late last night.

She was impaled on a picket fence in the courtyard and 2½ hours later died in Roosevelt hospital.

Her husband, John Huppman, sales supervisor of a bottling equipment company, told detectives that he and his wife had quarreled during the late afternoon and evening and that when he went to answer the phone in the midst of the argument she ran out on the terrace and leaped over the wall, calling out her goodbye over her shoulder.

She appeared in the front line of choruses for Florenz Ziegfeld, George White, Billy Rose and others.

TAKES CHARGE

Bird Takes Over His Duties as Ohio Adjutant General.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Col. Whittier S. Bird took charge today as Ohio adjutant general, but said that no action toward organization of the state guard would be taken until he got "settled a bit."

Colonel Bird also will command the state guard as brigadier general.

Gov. John W. Bricker chatted briefly when Bird arrived at his office and they were to confer later today. Bird came here from Camp Shelby, Miss., where he retired as chief of staff of Ohio's 37th division. Bird indicated that recruiting of the new state guard forces would be taken up before officer personnel is selected.

C. B. MARSH DIES

Stroke Fatal To Photographer In Galion.

GALION—A resident of Galion for the past 45 years and a prominent photographer here, C. Burr Marsh, 79, of 133 South Boston street, died at City hospital last night following a five-day illness. Mr. Marsh had suffered a stroke on his way home from work Saturday.

He was born in Benzonia, Mich., Dec. 27, 1861, coming to Galion from Fayette, O., 45 years ago. Mr. Marsh began his work in photography in 1884 and had been active at his studios until the time of his illness.

A member of the Elks lodge and the Presbyterian church, where he had served as treasurer for 15 years, Mr. Marsh was a former vice president of the Ohio-Michigan Photographers association, and a member of "Whos Who" in photography.

He was preceded in death by his wife Mrs. June White Marsh and one son, Kenneth.

Survivors are two sons, W. T. Marsh, R. W. Marsh, and one daughter, Mrs. Zilpha Black, all of Galion.

Private funeral services will be held at the late home Saturday at 2:30 p. m. Rev. William Martin, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will officiate. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery.

END ROW OVER BALLOT BILL

Senator Accepts Apology of State Legion Commander on Remarks.

COLUMBUS —(INS)— The row between State Sen. Grant Ward (R.-Columbus) and State Commander Ralph Stone, of the American Legion, over the bill to ban un-American political parties from the Ohio ballot, ended today with the senator's acceptance of Stone's apology.

The bill was passed over Ward's objection but it has not reached the governor. Stone, after suggesting that Ward resign from the Legion, publicly apologized.

Replying to Stone's apology, the senator said:

"In your letter you say 'I do not believe the bill will ever become a law in Ohio and perhaps it is for the best.'

"I agree with this statement and two-thirds of the members of the judiciary committee were sincerely opposed to house bill 355 on the grounds it was a measure aimed to suppress certain groups, was undemocratic in principle, poorly drafted and would not accomplish the object intended.

"Its effect would be to bar any third party from the ballot."

Ward added that none of the committee members "are Communists, nor have they any Communistic leanings." He said he felt that if the governor signs the measure it would harm the Legion more than it would help it.

Third Contest In Dem Ranks Looms For City Primary

The third Democratic primary contest appeared today in Mansfield when Michael A. Mihalick, 60 Orchard street, announced his candidacy for councilman in the Fourth ward.

Mihalick, a dairy store salesman, is the eighth Democratic candidate to seek nomination for a city office. He will oppose Councilman Jake Kutschall, seeking re-election in the Fourth ward.

Despite the Democratic activity, Republicans have shown little interest so far in the primary campaign. Only one, Paul Bush, candidate for the Sixth ward council nomination, has come out for office.

Besides the Fourth ward contest, Democrats seeking re-election as council president and Sixth ward councilman will face opposition in the August primary. Council President Howard G. Miller will be opposed by Councilman George Berg, while Stanley Wilburn has announced he will run against Councilman Arthur L. Croak in the Sixth ward race.

Candidates will have slightly more than three weeks in which to circulate and file the petitions to place their names on the primary ballots. Since few signatures are required on the petitions, most of them probably will wait until the last week or two before filing, election board officials said. The filing deadline is June 13.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, MAY 22, 1941.

There's a sporting limit to strikes in baseball — why not in industry?

Our defense preparations seem to be getting along pretty well now, but they need dramatizing.

Continental differences of viewpoint: Canadians are burning Lindbergh's books and pro-Nazis in Mexico are distributing his speeches.

New Accident Needs

AFTER a period of steady decrease, accidents in industry increased 10 per cent in 1940 over 1939. The figures for 1941 may be even worse. In March, for example, deaths from occupational accidents were 7 per cent ahead of those in March a year ago.

The Red Cross explains it as the natural result of the speeding up of industry. There are many men on jobs new to them who go to work before they know all the hazards involved. Motor accidents are increasing, too. They reflect a greater amount of traffic. Also greater use of by-roads and unimproved roads to carry men and supplies to military camps or to new industrial plants and other new construction.

Effort will be made to keep accident figures as low as possible. For this purpose, the American Red Cross is organizing hundreds of volunteer first aid groups in factories, office buildings, colleges, hotels and elsewhere. Such groups will have 15 to 50 members and will be recruited from the two or three million persons who have had some Red Cross first aid training.

Educational work goes along with first aid work. It is up to manufacturing concerns and responsible persons generally to provide the additional safety equipment proportionate to the increased employment, and to teach workers how to avoid accidents. No doubt some rise in accidents must be expected, but it should be kept to a minimum.

More Livable Cities

THE Urban Land Institute of Chicago, disturbed by problems of real estate values within the city and the tendency of people to move to outlying areas, recommended a survey to find "the real key to improving the central growth of Chicago." A preliminary report reveals some truths which other cities may find interesting and instructive.

From first studies of growing piles of data relating to school registrations, traffic congestion, parking facilities, super-highways, taxation, cost of government, and so on, a simple fact emerges. It appears that the way to induce people not to move away from the cities is to make the cities more desirable places in which to live and work.

"It means the redesigning of cities," says the survey director. "It means a new set of standards and appraisals, which assign to schools, churches, trees, landscaping and cleanliness values even greater in importance than those heretofore attributed to parking lots and superhighways. It means that more attention will be given to the elimination of noise, dirt and smoke than to the transportation minutes saved by the construction of a subway."

City planners with social vision as well as engineering skill will be needed for such city-building, and it will take time to carry out their plans—even after the public is sold on their wisdom.

Unpleasant Salesmanship

A LOT OF PEOPLE are getting annoyed at commercial news broadcasts.

At first the public welcomed sponsored programs and accepted the incidental advertising as a natural way of paying for the service. It was all right as long as the "blurb" was a minor incident, handled briefly and courteously. As the sales talk lengthened, it was still endured, but the audience began to get restive. Soon the public was given two separate earfuls of salesmanship on one program. Then it grew to three, and lately there are sometimes as many as four different appeals in the course of a fifteen-minute feature.

Naturally in this process the information that the listener wants to hear grows less and loses in quality, because the speaker has no fair chance to do a good job. And the advertising itself deteriorates. Much of it drops to the style of old-fashioned auctioneering or snake-oil vending. And it so offends many listeners that thousands of them are refusing to listen, or grimly deciding not to buy the articles hawked so disagreeably.

Oh for a lodge in some vast wilderness! But then, come to think of it, how could we find out what was going on?

MORE NEW DEAL CO-OPERATION

Consumer Needs Hearten Farmers

—By JACK STINNETT

(Last of three articles on the farmer and national defense.)

WASHINGTON—In spite of the lend-lease program, which farm experts are estimating will shortly double agricultural exports from recent low levels, the most heartening thing to the American farmer in the national defense picture is the great increase in domestic consumer demand.

Although purchases for use in other democracies are supposed to be a secret, I could point out that since the lend-lease act has become operative, the Department of Agriculture has reported weekly purchases of such things as dry beans, 16,120,000 pounds; cheese, 3,018,000 pounds; shell eggs, about 142,000 cases; fresh carrots, 138 tons; evaporated milk, 138,000 cases; canned tomatoes, 618,675 cases; lard, nearly 22,000,000 pounds, and pork products, 40,419,000 pounds.

The only reason these figures are worth putting down is that these are some of the products Great Britain needs badly. With every report of purchase, the Agriculture Department is careful to point out that these purchases are made for domestic distribution to public aid families and for free school lunches. Red Cross shipments to war refugee areas "and transfer to other countries under provisions of the lend-lease act"—"or for release upon the market when this is desirable."

Exports Not Enough.

There is no doubt but that all of this is true, but the increased purchases of products needed badly in the war countries is undoubtedly a major factor. That accounts for the prediction that the value of farm exports in the next few months may double, but even if they triple, such exports alone would not give the farmer any real security.

The greatest help undoubtedly will come from increased demand right in the United States. This is almost too obvious to need explaining by figures.

To put it as briefly as possible: The Bureau of Agricultural Economics has doped it out that factory wages are about twice what they were in the very early 1920's and three times what they were at the bottom of the depression in 1932-33.

"Purchasing power of factory wages in 1941 is at record levels, contributing to increased consumer demand for farm products," says the Bureau's report.

Not only that, but all employment has improved both in numbers and wages. The Bureau estimates that the net contribution of the federal government to the national buying power will be 10 billion dollars compared with four billion in 1940. Wages, for the most part, have gone up faster than the cost of living. With the government keeping an eagle eye on all prices, this ratio is likely to be maintained.

It has been proved before that when Johnny Worker gets a good job or higher wages he puts a big chunk of his earnings into more and better food.

I haven't found any one around here who thinks that this means any golden age for the American farmer, but there is no reason to believe that, for the most part, his condition won't improve.

'Food For Peace.'

In conclusion, I want to give an informal quote from Secretary of Agriculture Wickard, for it seems to sum up the department's long-view program:

"In this war food will be more important than guns. I believe that. Some people haven't realized it yet. When a man is pointing a gun at you, you are thinking about another gun rather than something to eat; but maybe the way in which you can handle that gun depends upon how much you have had to eat and how much the people supporting you have had to eat.

"One other thing is on my mind. If war ceases today or tomorrow, there would be more demand for some of these foods than there is now. The longer the war goes on the greater the post-war demand will be. When the negotiators gather around the peace conference table, if I visualize things correctly, there will be representatives of a lot of hungry people at that table. I hope our American representatives will be there and we will have peace that will last this time.

"I suspect that if some of these people representing undernourished and underfed people find that in America there is plenty of food, and some to spare for them, that may have some bearing on the attitude of those representatives. What I am saying is that plentiful supplies may be more important at the peace table than while war is going on.

"It is up to us to provide food for defense and reserves of food or peace."

This Is Ohio

FOUR miles east of West Lafayette in Coshocton county stands old Stone Fort, one of the unsolved mysteries of early Ohio.

Many theories have been advanced as to who constructed the defense, when and why, but no evidence has been presented to substantiate such claims. Evidently it was constructed under the supervision of a military man, and there were several expeditions of a military nature made into this region during the last century.

Lieut. Joseph G. DeLery, an engineer of the French army, who marched overland from Sandusky to Fort Duquesne, passed near where the fort is now located and could well have constructed it as a magazine or place of defense.

Let's Look Around

St. Louis, Busy and Beautiful

—By G. J. KOCHENDERFER

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Somewhat out of the beaten path of Mansfielders, this principal Missouri city of almost a million population is one of those places in which a week might be profitably spent in taking a look at the many interesting things to be found here, chief among the city's attractions being its wonderful parks and the way in which they are kept up.

While the census report shows a slight decrease in population between 1930 and 1940 the spread of development into suburban districts appears to more than offset the decline within corporate bounds and the many long streets of modern new brick homes seen in an approach from the north over the Lewis and Clark bridge gives an idea of the suburban trend of big-city population.

Federal housing projects are also being used to improve conditions and provide low rentals in several of less desirable residential sections of the city, and, all in all, Pierre Laclede Linguest would have reason to feel mighty proud of the metropolis that has grown from the little fur trading post that he founded here in 1764 and named in honor of Louis IX of France.

Recognizing its vast industrial operations and its 2,500 diversified manufacturing concerns as the prime factor in its growth and prosperity, the people of St. Louis are more inclined to stress cultural, educational and humanitarian activities, rather than letting conversation run to commercial subjects.

They talk most about their parks, their universities, their art museum and their municipal opera, leaving it to imagination to determine the sources of funds which made all of these things possible. But it is evident on every hand that, at some time or other, there has been a considerable accumulation of wealth beyond needs among a great many people of this city and that large bequests have frequently augmented ordinary sources of municipal revenues in promoting cultural progress and stimulating civic spirit.

HIGH among the benefactions through which St. Louis has profited is that by which the memory of Henry Shaw is perpetuated through a trust fund which assures maintenance of the beautiful gardens that bear his name and which are internationally known and admired.

English-born Henry Shaw profited much from his business in St. Louis and the gardens which surrounded his family home were opened to the public in 1860, and under a trusteeship provided for in his will, have been expanded into a 75-acre garden tract officially known as the Missouri Botanical Garden, but always referred to locally as "the Shaw garden."

In these gardens, with their outdoor and indoor plantings, there are about 12,000 species of flowers, plants and trees, brought from many parts of the world and sucessfully established in new environment.

The day of our visit to the Shaw gardens turned out to be fortunately timed to height of the blooming season of peonies, iris and roses, and the expanse of these flowers, in their many varieties and colors presented a scene of beauty scarcely imaginable.

With some of the formal designs patterned after the famous Kew gardens in England, these gardens are said to rival those in attractiveness and variety.

A DAY could be pleasantly spent in looking through the 1,400 acres of Forest park, on King's Highway, where hundreds of thousands of visitors are attracted each year by the art museum, the Jefferson memorial, the St. Louis zoo, and the summer concerts of the Municipal Opera—but this is to be a hurried trip and the car is waiting.

U. S. Faces Same Problem Today That Confronted France In 1936

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—It takes no profound expert on international relations to see cogent parallels between the position of this country today and that of certain European countries yesterday.

For instance: Five years ago this column gave the inside story of the French dilemma on March 7, 1936—the date Hitler sent his troops into the demilitarized Rhineland. All that fateful day, the French cabinet deliberated. Whether to send the French army into the Rhineland to stop Hitler's very small, very inexperienced, young army was the question.

Chief of Staff Gamelin notified the cabinet that to oppose Hitler might not actually mean war, but it meant the risk of war. Hitler's new young army might fold up and retreat. But if the cabinet took a stand, it meant war.

The cabinet debated this all day long. Finally it decided that the country could not risk war. The political reaction would be bad. Also the defense program was not complete.

Later it was disclosed that Hitler had given his troop commanders double marching orders. One order was to advance. The other order was to retreat in case of French resistance.

Note—One year later, when Hitler took Austria, France was better prepared. But Germany was even more so. And far more important, Germany now had protected her great industrial area of the Ruhr and moved into the strategic Rhine valley, for which an attack on either France or Germany is absolutely essential.

U. S. A. and West Africa.

On Thursday, May 15, 1941, it became known that France had signed a deal whereby her colonies in West Africa (and elsewhere) were turned over to Hitler's uses.

On Friday, May 16, 1941, the White House and the state department debated all day whether President Roosevelt should send a message to congress warning the nation what German troops and bombing planes at Dakar, on the western bulge of Africa, meant to the Monroe Doctrine.

The day passed and nothing happened. This delay is now being rectified. But previously many other precious days had passed.

Last autumn, after the capitulation of France, General Weygand had an army of 300,000 men in North Africa, plus a fair number of airplanes and artillery. At that time Admiral Leahy, new Ambassador to France, suggested a joint Pan-American naval expedition to Dakar, jumping-off place to South America, to prevent such a jump-off.

At that time General Weygand's army, co-operating with the British in Egypt, could have applied the pincers on the Italians, squeezed them out of Libya in no time.

But Admiral Leahy's suggestion was not seriously considered. Political sentiment in the United States, he was told, never would stand for it, and besides the United States was not prepared.

Today, the German-Italian armistice commission has dismantled all of General Weygand's airplanes, blown up his forts, disarmed his men, taken away his artillery. And what is left of the French army in North Africa, tired of waiting for the United States and Britain, has thrown in its lot with Hitler.

Hitler's Encircling Embrace.

The way Hitler has conquered most of Europe has been through encirclement. In that strategy there is an important lesson for the United States. The United States has little need to worry about attack from across the Atlantic and Pacific, but it does need to worry about being encircled via South America.

For instance: Hitler's first move in Europe after the Rhineland was to take Austria. Czechoslovakia didn't like it, but her peace groups counseled against risking war; her two allies, Rumania and Yugoslavia, decided that it was not their funeral; and France had been rendered impotent by Hitler's occupation of the Rhineland.

So next day the Czechs woke up to the fact that they now had a border two-thirds surrounded by Germany. North, south and west they faced Nazi troops.

Therefore, a year later, when Hitler got ready to take the Sudetenland, it was relatively easy to apply the pincers to Czechoslovakia—especially since he had the help of Poland and Hungary. Those two countries both wanted slices of Czech territory, mobilized their armies on the rest of the Czech border. That was the end of Czechoslovakia.

Steps to Turkey.

Next day Poland woke up to find itself two-thirds surrounded by Germany. By gaining Czechoslovakia, Hitler now could station troops north, south and west of Poland. So a year later, the pincers were applied to Poland and she was swallowed.

Meanwhile, Hungary wanted a slice of Rumania, co-operated with Hitler by sending troops across her borders. Rumania was taken, Hungary found herself surrounded, a vassal state. Her premier committed suicide.

Yugoslavia was a Little Entente ally of both Czechoslovakia and Rumania, but ignored the alliance when they needed help. Later Yugoslavia found herself surrounded on three sides: by Italy on the west, Nazified Austria, Rumania and Bulgaria on the north and east. The Axis applied the pincers and now it was Yugoslavia's funeral.

Turkey was an ally of Yugoslavia, but decided to remain an isolationist nation. Today, Turkey is completely surrounded: by Nazi-occupied Syria, Nazi-occupied Greece, and Nazi-occupied Bulgaria—plus uncertain Russia. Whenever Hitler gets ready to pluck her, it will be Turkey's funeral.

U. S. A. and Brazil.

The United States, it might be repeated, has little to fear from direct attacks across the Atlantic and Pacific. Neither did Yugoslavia or Turkey two years ago fear direct attack. At that time Germany was many miles distant.

But should Germany get a toe-hold in Brazil, Venezuela or the Guianas, then it is but a few hours bombing flight to Colombia and the Panama Canal, or a short step to Central America and Mexico.

Today, Brazil, Colombia and Venezuela, very friendly countries but proud of their sovereignty, sympathize with the United States in regard to Germany—except that like every other Latin American nation, they absolutely oppose admitting U. S. troops on their soil in advance to help block a Nazi invasion.

Of course they have excellent precedents. Belgium, for instance, refused to permit French troops on her soil or even to have general staff consultations with France in advance of the Nazi invasion.

Brazil, Colombia and Venezuela may change their minds tomorrow. Belgium changed its mind—but too late.

(EDITOR'S NOTE—How the U. S. A. delayed too long in Spain and in Japan will be told in subsequent Merry-Go-Round columns.)

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — Baron Paul von Hernreid is tossing his title into the attic trunk "because it seems a little out of place over here and since I am to become an American I shan't need it."

So he becomes just plain Paul Hernreid, late of Trieste, late of Vienna, late of London, now of New York and Los Angeles. But even the "Hernreid" may have to undergo alteration shortly, as Hollywood, with an eye on the box-office, fears it might be a shade too Teutonic should America ever become involved in war. "All this," confesses the ex-baron, "makes me laugh, because Hernreid is really a Swedish name and I am of Swedish stock."

He says the name Reid was suggested and then discarded because there is already an actor in Hollywood whose name is Read. Hearn is another suggestion and I told him Hearn was a name that meant a lot in this country because of Lafcadio Hearn. He doesn't know what he will have to do about it but he would be happier if he could remain just Paul Hernreid.

HERNREID is a very tall, very thin young man who played the Nazi consul in "Flight to the West," an anti-Nazi drama by Elmer Rice, on Broadway this season. He is also the star of a "sleeper" picture called "Night Train" which came to the public without any advance notices and turned out to be one of the best pictures in a long time. Hernreid was very happy about the whole thing. His notices ran like lyric poems. He has a new film contract. For a young man who had a lot of trouble convincing everybody who and what he was, including American immigration authorities, the war year of 1941 has not been too discouraging.

His meeting with the immigration people was worth a double entry in his diary. An Austrian of Swedish extraction, he arrived with a German passport under the Italian quota. Now this may seem involved, but it all fits. Hernreid was born in Trieste, a part of Italy. Generations earlier his people had moved to Vienna from Sweden. When the Germans took over Austria they supplanted Austrian passports with their own. So here was a part Swede who was Austrian by an accident of geography who had been born in Italian Trieste and who possessed a German passport. He doesn't know whether the authorities ever got it straight or not, but they let him in, and here he intends to remain.

HIS principal concern at the moment is his father-in-law, who is Dr. Gustav Gluck, famed author, scientist and authority on Flemish paintings. Thomas Mann and other important friends of the doctor are attempting to find a way for him to come over here, where he has been offered an opportunity to lecture at New York university.

When the Germans took over, Dr. Gluck fled to London, where he was most kindly received. But with London concerned mainly with Goering's raiders, there isn't much opportunity for an essayist on ancient culture these days. Shipping is the bottleneck. They can't get him out of England. Passage even to Lisbon via plane has been gobbled up months ahead. But his friends are working, and some day he will get here.

A Farmer's Diary

The Garden Gives

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

THERE may be something better when a man is hungry, than a slab of buttered homemade bread and a handful of small green onions. But if so, I'm sure it doesn't grow this time of year.

Our garden has lettuce, radishes and onions ready to eat—and we have enjoyed rhubarb and fresh asparagus. Frost caught the earliest beans, but the peas are a foot high and thrifty. Four long rows of early potatoes are nicely up, and early tomatoes are growing.

I satisfied the Dutch in me with a large patch of early cabbage. We also have plenty of beets and carrots, a few Brussels sprouts, and—to satisfy my curiosity—two rows of peanuts. Early in June, on a new patch below the new orchard, I hope to get out an acre of late potatoes, and a patch of tomatoes, and the two older children will try a plot of cucumbers.

I believe nearly every tree we planted will live, and grow. The first ones are already nicely leafed and most of the others are budded. Two apricots and a late plum near the house have been slowest to declare their intentions. We will plow between the rows of trees in June and plant soybeans. These I hope will furnish hay for the cows next fall and leave plenty for mulch for the orchard.

The cornfield was planted yesterday. Rain early in the week had made it in excellent shape, except one or two damp spots. We drilled in the seed (Hybrid K-35) and I hope to plant pumpkins, squashes, kudzu and pole beans in various parts of the field, a little later.

Sun tan is all the rage this year, out our way. I bought two new hoes this spring, and the cultivator I picked up for a dime at a sale last fall turns out to be just the right size for the two older boys to play horse with. Taking turns being pony and driver they clear up quite a space in an hour—and have fun besides.

School will soon be out. Then all hands will be available. Our hopes are high for a busy, healthful and profitable summer—and a cellar full of homegrown food for next winter.

SLAG BECOMES HIGHLY USEFUL WAR MATERIAL

Steel By-Product Proves Valuable In Building Fortifications.

PITTSBURGH — (U.P.) — Slag — once the unwanted by-product of the steel industry—is fast becoming of vital importance in the nation's rearmament drive.

The lava-like material, which is the waste matter left in the production of iron, formerly was a burden to the industry—something to be disposed of as quickly as possible.

New defense projects, however, have opened up many uses for slag, according to local steelmakers and slag processors.

Slag is playing an important part in the construction of emergency airports. It is going into the runways, hangar aprons, drains and building foundations.

Cantonment streets in army camps are being paved with slag, and coastal fortifications are being reinforced with it. Slag concrete blocks are being used in the construction of defense factories. Even roofs are being laid with slag.

The material also is employed as ballast for railroad tracks and is the filtering substance for sewage disposal systems in army camps.

But its use is not limited to the American armaments program. Officials of the National Slag association report that the famous German naval base at Helgoland is largely built of slag concrete in addition to its use in the West Wall.

According to slag officials, this waste material is coming into increasingly importance because of its availability, economy and durability.

The available supply of slag corresponds to the rate of production of steel. With the present steel operating rate near theoretical capacity, the supply of slag is more than adequate.

It is inexpensive, with grinding and screening the only main processing operations necessary.

In addition, slag is an unusually hard material, which, according to experts, can only be broken up by a pneumatic hammer when it has solidified. Tests have shown it has superior resisting qualities to machine gun bullets.

The use of slag in the present emergency also allows conservation of more valuable and less plentiful construction materials, according to the slag association.

Slag is one of two solids that come out of a blast furnace—the other being iron. For every two tons of iron one ton of slag is tapped in a molten state from the furnace.

It is poured into large ladles and is hauled to cooling pits or dumps. After it has solidified, the slag is transported to crushing plants where it is screened into various sizes, in accordance with the use for which it is intended.

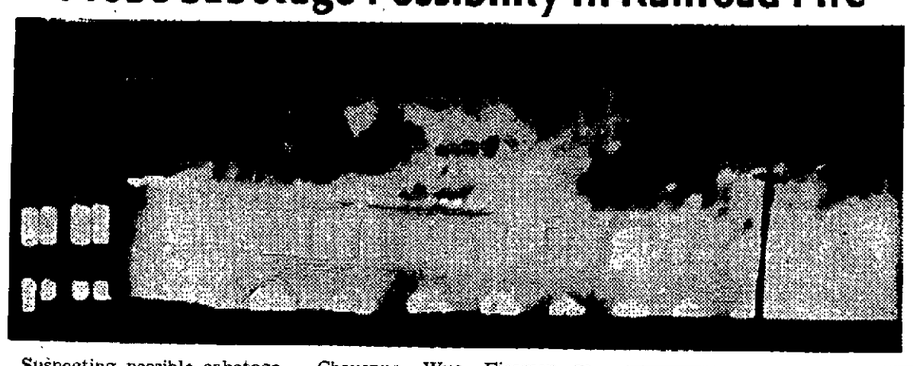
Probe Sabotage Possibility In Railroad Fire



Suspecting possible sabotage, officials are conducting an intensive investigation to determine the cause of a $1,000,000 fire that destroyed three Union Pacific railroad shop buildings, above, and their contents in Cheyenne, Wyo. Firemen reported that although they arrived within five minutes after the fire broke out, the flames already were far out of control. Cheyenne is the key repair shop center of the Union Pacific.

BLAME YOUR LIVER IF—

If your liver doesn't secrete 20 to 30 ounces of bile every day into your intestines—constipation with its headaches, mental dullness and that "half-alive" feeling often result. So you see how important it is to keep bile flowing freely! And what finer aid could one desire than Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, used so successfully for years by Dr. F. M. Edwards for treating his patients for constipation and sluggish liver bile.

Olive Tablets are unsurpassed in effectiveness because they stimulate liver bile to help digest fatty foods, they tone up muscular intestinal action, at the same time help elimination. Being purely vegetable, Olive Tablets are wonderful! Test their supreme goodness TONIGHT! 15¢, 30¢, 60¢. All drugstores.

'DAZZLE' AGE

SAN FRANCISCO—(U.P.)—Sixteen years has received legal recognition here as the "dazzling age" for high school girls.

The San Francisco and Napa Valley Railroad was granted a new trial in a $27,500 damage award in favor of Martha Belle Jeffers, 16, on the plea the girl's beauty "dazzled the jury." Miss Jeffers, whose car collided with one of the company's locomotives was on the witness stand for 30 minutes.

It is estimated that there are about one million railway bond holders in the United States.

Tells How Nazi Spies Hastened Fall of France

PHILADELPHIA — (INS) — Before the Nazi swastika was hoisted atop Eiffel Tower, there were 1100 German radio posts in Paris alone broadcasting continuously to the army of Adolf Hitler, according to former Ambassador William C. Bullitt.

"The French knew these stations were broadcasting," Bullitt told an American Legion gathering. "They heard them and nailed about 200, but that left 900 spies with portable radio sending sets in suitcases, moving from place to place.

"Radio sets were found in the most incredible places," the former ambassador disclosed, "including a Paris taxicab in which two beautiful girls had joined the army of refugees to act as hindrances to the French maneuvers."

Bullitt warned that unless extraordinary precautions against spies and sabotage are enforced in America, the same network might be set up in this country.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS

Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes Flush Out Poisonous Waste

If you have an excess of acids in your blood, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be overworked. These tiny filters and tubes are working day and night to help Nature rid your system of excess acids and poisonous waste.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Kidneys may need help the same as bowels, so ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

WOULD HAVE TO STOP WHEN DIZZY SPELLS ATTACKED

Mr. C. P. VanHouten, of Fredericktown, Ohio, near Mt. Vernon, says, "When I'm constipated I often suffer such annoying symptoms as headaches, spots before my eyes, awaking every morning with a coated tongue, feeling tired and achy, and such awful dizziness that I have to stop what I am doing till these attacks pass off.

"Vendol helped from the first dose, as it gives such grand temporary relief from constipation, and I have now taken three bottles, and when I'm not constipated I never have a sign or symptom that makes me so miserable like dizziness, achy feeling spots, and headaches. I advise everyone to try Vendol. I think it the best I ever took."

The wonderful Vendol formula is what gets results, and explains why so many people around here recommend it highly.

Retired Galion Mail Carrier Taken By Death

GALION — Ralph G. Sayre, 67, World war major and retired city mail carrier, died Wednesday evening at City hospital following an illness of 17 days.

Born Aug. 26, 1873, in Morrow county, Mr. Sayre was a son of Sidney and Harriett (Gillis) Sayre. He was married Aug. 6, 1903, to Alma Henrietta Klopp, who survives. Besides his widow there are two children, a son, Howard, of Fostoria, and a daughter, Miriam, Galion school teacher; two brothers and a sister, Homer Sayre, Cincinnati, Horace of Oakland, Calif., and Mrs. J. C. Shumaker, Galion.

He was a charter member of Galion Lodge, B. P. O. Elks; a member of Scarbrough Post, No. 243, The American Legion, and served as first commander of the post. For 42 years he was a city mail carrier, retiring two years ago. He was a member of First Reformed church.

His army career began when he was first lieutenant in Company L, Ohio National Guard. Later he became captain of Company L, and then was named major of the 8th Ohio Infantry, serving at the Mexican border in 1916., and during the World war he commanded Battalion A of the 146 Infantry in Camp Sheridan and over seas.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m., Saturday, at the home. Rev. R. R. Elliker, pastor of the First Reformed church, will officiate. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery.

RITES FRIDAY

BUCYRUS — Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a. m. Friday at the Henderson and Lutz funeral home for Mrs. Emma C. Boyer, 80, Columbus resident, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Walter Mason, here, Wednesday. Burial will be made in Violet cemetery, Pickerington, O.

Mrs. Boyer had been making her home with her daughter for the past 10 months.

SEEKS RE-ELECTION

BUCYRUS—Mayor William F. Whiteamire, who is completing his first term as mayor of Bucyrus, has announced his candidacy for a second term. The candidate, a Democrat, is proprietor of the City News stand.

How to Visit Your Soldier at Camp

That's easy — Greyhound serves more training camps than any other travel system at less cost. For example:

Round-Trip Fares		One Way	Rd.-Trip
CAMP SHELBY	New York	$ 9.00	$16.20
Hattiesburg $19.90	Washington, D. C.	7.35	13.25
CAMP LEE	Boston, Mass.	10.75	19.35
Petersburgh $16.85	Buffalo, N. Y.	4.15	7.50
FORT KNOX $9.40	Miami, Fla.	16.45	29.65
FORT BENNING	New Orleans	12.35	22.25
Columbus Ga $16.75	Los Angeles	34.50	62.10
	Chicago, Ill.	4.35	7.85
	Salt Lake City	26.40	47.55
	Montreal	11.80	21.25

● It's fun to be ahead of the crowds—enjoying your favorite vacation spot while it's still fresh and unspoiled—and with hotel and resort accommodations assured. And it's fun to be money ahead, too—as you always are when you go places by Greyhound at only 1/3 the cost of driving a car. If your personal plans permit, you'll be smart to travel on week-days — and you'll be saving extra seat space for soldiers and sailors on leave over the week-ends.

KISS YOUR TIRED FEELING GOODBYE!

Pepless Many Suffer Low Blood Count—And Don't Know It.

The baffling thing about low blood count is that you can weigh about as much as you ever did—even look healthy and strong, yet—you can feel as if you had lead in your legs, dopey, tired and pepless.

Low blood count oft times may mean you haven't got enough red blood corpuscles. It is their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen from your lungs throughout your body. And just as it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in your car and make the power to turn the wheels, so you must have plenty of oxygen to explode the energy in your body and give you going power.

Get Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. They are world-famous for the help they give in increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles when they have been weakened by simple anemia. T.-W. CLUB ELECTS NEW OFFICERS WEDNESDAY

Mrs. H. D. Bishop Chosen to Head Teachers' Wives Club When Final Meeting of the Season Is Held at H. J. Dotson Home.

MRS. H. D. BISHOP was elected president of the Teachers' Wives club when the final meeting of the year was held Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Harry Dotson, Stewart avenue. Other officers chosen are Mrs. Lawrence Frank, vice president; Mrs. V. S. Mann, secretary, and Mrs. C. A. Divelbiss, treasurer. Thirty-eight attended the program and business session.

Mrs. H. J. Dotson was hostess at her home, 92 Stewart avenue, assisted by Mrs. J. E. Smith, Mrs. R. W. Worley, Mrs. Zane Wilson, Mrs. F. B. Million, Mrs. Harold Ramsey and Mrs. Glenn Robinson.

Mrs. G. W. Harmony, retiring president, gave a short talk on the past year's work. Following the business session the program was presented by Mrs. J. C. Stout and Mrs. Nelson Neff. Mrs. Stout gave a most comprehensive talk on "Writers Who Are Influencing Our Age," and stated that the ideas of our times are expressed in our books, thus have a definite influence on the minds. Mrs. Neff presented a humorous musical program which was titled "Decoration Day Exercises at Singing School," and the group participating were in costume. Those taking part were Mrs. E. N. Cooper, Mrs. Frank, Mrs. L. E. Rahn, Mrs. J. J. Thoms, Mrs. Paul Cameron, Mrs. W. B. Huber, Mrs. Harold Ramsey, Mrs. W. W. Blauser and Mrs. Neff.

At the close of the program a luncheon was served with spring flowers as decorations. Meetings of the club will be resumed in the fall.

Authority on Gardens Speaks At Garden Center

The second in the series of lectures to be given at the recently organized Garden Center at the Public library was held Wednesday evening with Mrs. Lucile Teeter Kissack of Cleveland speaking. Her interesting topic was "Continuous Bloom in the Perennial Border" and she showed beautiful colored slides of many lovely gardens. One of the most unusual was of her own garden in the woods, showing blooms from the beginning of the spring until late fall.

Members of the Astowela Garden club who were in charge of the Center during May displayed many attractive exhibits of iris and tree peonies. Members of the Buckeye Garden club will preside during June. It is planned to have a lecture on "Roses" sometime next month by Melvin Wyant of Mentor.

Seventy-five attended the program last evening which was open to the public. A question period followed the lecture.

St. John's Guild Entertains Mothers

St. John's guild members entertained their mothers at a party at the church parlors Wednesday afternoon. Firty-two attended the meeting which was in charge of Mrs. Helen Young, Mrs. Agnes Wilson, Mrs. Freda Touby, and Miss Clara Yeager. Singing was enjoyed following the covered-dish dinner at noon.

The 23rd psalm was read and the scripture given by Mrs. Florence Pfeifer. Musical selections were played by Mrs. Edna Wagner and daughter, Carol Joyce on the xylophone. Accordion numbers were played by Miss Norma Touby and banjo solo by Miss Lynette Foltz. Mrs. Catherine Klinger told an interesting story.

The next meeting on June 4 at the church will be in charge of Mrs. Martha Baer, Mrs. Arminta Collins, Mrs. Emma Campbell and Mrs. Lena Fisher.

MEET AT CHURCH.

Golden Rule class of the First Lutheran church will meet Friday noon in the assembly room of the church for a covered-dish luncheon. Mrs. Charles Dorman and her committee are in charge of arrangements.

Auxiliary Has Dinner Meeting

Members of the Women's Auxiliary to the National Federation of Post Office Clerks met for a dinner party Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Robert Bride, sr., 711 West Third street. Associate hostesses were Mrs. Harry Zellner and Mrs. John Seifert. Eighteen were present and were entertained by the charter members of the group.

During the business session the committee for the semi-annual calendar program was appointed and consists of Mrs. Harold Temple, Mrs. H. W. McClary and Mrs. H. K. Eller. The remainder of the time was spent socially with group singing led by Mrs. Charles Glasgow. A shower of personal gifts was given to Mrs. Eller. Plans were made for a picnic to be held June 21, the place to be announced later.

NANCY NEIL CLUB.

Mrs. Glenn Pore, 313 Superior street, was hostess to members of the Nancy Neil club at her home Wednesday afternoon. Sewing and contests were the diversions with the prize being won by Mrs. Henry Poth. Later refreshments were served. Plans were made for a picnic to be held June 11 at Middle Park.

Mrs. W. C. Linn Honored By Miss Lucille Moxley

Honoring Mrs. W. C. Linn, the former Naomi Croskey, was the lovely party held last evening at the Colonial Guest House, Park avenue east road, with Miss Lucille Moxley as hostess. Seventeen guests attended the affair which was a bridge party. High score prizes for the diversion were presented to Miss Mary Wehinger, Mrs. Gilbert Stell and Miss Ellen Hagelbarger, who gave them to the honoree.

Blue and white was the pretty color scheme carried out when refreshments were served at small tables. Bouquets of flowers and lighted tapers decorated the table. The hostess presented Mrs. Linn with a comfort and the guests surprised her with a shower of grocery articles.

Mrs. Byron Aton of Lexington was the out-of-town guest present. The next post-nuptial party for Mrs. Linn will be held Wednesday at the Staiger Tea room, Glessner avenue.

Three Members Initiated at Auxiliary Meet

Auxiliary No. 100, Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil war held their Memorial service Wednesday afternoon at the Memorial building. Edith Snyder, president, conducted the ritualistic work. Three candidates for membership, Elma Stickler, Mildred Sherrer and Dorothy Wilmoth, were initiated.

Memorial services were conducted for the deceased sisters and also the late Comrade Hammett by Chaplain Sidney White. During the services Hazel Brannon sang a solo. After the flowers were dedicated they were sent to the General hospital.

Two guests, Mrs. Pearl Gibbony, department president from Newark, and Mrs. Daisy Hurd, Mt. Vernon, attended the meeting. Mrs. Gibbony gave a talk on "Loyalty." Mrs. Eunice Cleland and Mrs. Grace Downs were in charge of the meeting. The next regular session will be held June 4 at Memorial hall.

High Style Fashions, Fancy Work

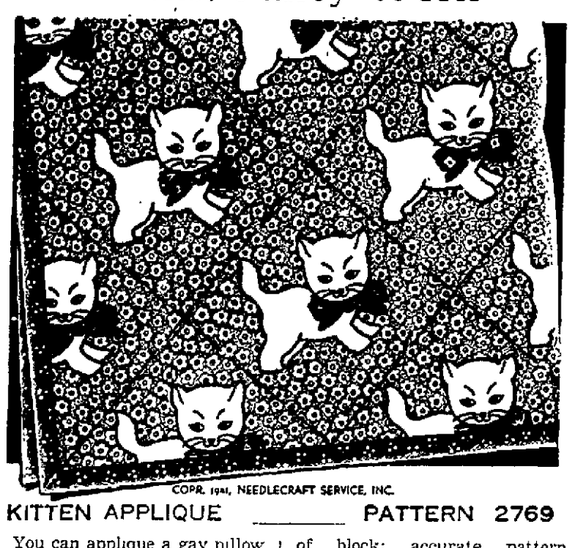
By MARIAN MARTIN

The good old summertime is almost here—and your youngster will need plenty of bright, crisp changes. Marian Martin solves your problem with Pattern 9725 — an adorable style that makes several different costumes. The piquant little basque dress may be made with brief, puffed sleeves or in sleeveless suntan version. There's a trim-fitting bodice with curved front seaming and a zig-zag waistline. The front skirt, just below the waist-seam, is full and gathered. The party-time frock may have pretty lace edging, while the sleeveless style has a low-cut front and back neckline and vivid ric-rac trim. Top this style with the little cape.

Pattern 9725 may be ordered only in children's sizes 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size 6, dress, requires 1¾ yards 35-inch fabric and 1½ yards ruffling; cape, ¾ yard 35-inch fabric.

Send 15 cents in coins for this Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your size, address, and style number.

Send your order to The Mansfield News-Journal, Pattern Department, 232 West 18th street, New York, N. Y.



KITTEN APPLIQUE — PATTERN 2769

You can applique a gay pillow top in about two winks, from this adorable kitten design! And how fitting it would be for outdoor use. Even a quilt is quickly made for there are only two patches. Use scraps in the bows. Pattern 2769 contains a diagram of block; accurate pattern pieces, directions for making quilt; yardages.

Send ten cents in coin for this pattern to The Mansfield News-Journal, Needlecraft Dept., 82 Eighth avenue, New York, N. Y. Write plainly pattern number, your name and address.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

There is something of the gamin in Mary always. She sees the laughable side of everything, and even through her real anxiety there crept a jest in answer to my request.

"Yes," she answered dryly, with a grin, "I imagine it might be a good thing to put Olga wise before she stumbles on to the rendezvous herself."

"Mary," I said sternly, for there was no humor in the quip to me, "this is too serious for nonsense. I must see Mr. Veritzen at once. Will you please get him?"

"Right away," she answered, and was gone upon the word. I went to the balcony door and closed it, slipping the lock as I did so—I had switched on the light when I came back into the room—then I sat down to wait for the arrival of Philip Veritzen. As owner of the hotel, he was the one person to whom I could turn with my imaginative fears, which, I strongly felt, were not without foundation.

I had only a minute to wait, but while my wrist watch ticked the seconds of its duration, which seemed a year, I met and disposed of a vital question—how much should I tell Philip Veritzen of Marion's danger?

I must tell him everything, I decided, as I realized to what extent I must depend upon him in the coming interview. It would be an insult to him not to confide in him fully. I could rely upon his discretion, I knew, especially if it were guarded by Olga, and of course I knew that any confidence given to Philip Veritzen must of necessity be shared by his wife.

The door opened upon my decision, and Philip gestured his daughter-in-law ahead of him into the room. Then, as she quickly stepped aside, he came over to me with concern written upon his face.

"Mary says you need me," he said. "Has anything happened? How can I serve you?"

The telephone punctuated his solicitous questions, and I made a quick, apologetic answer as I hurried toward it.

"A good deal has happened," I told him, "and I do need your aid sorely. But I must take this call from my father. I am sure it is from him. Won't you sit down, please?"

"Don't hurry," he adjured me, as he pulled a chair forward for Mary and seated himself in another. "I am at your service for anything, and for any measure of time."

I had no chance to answer him, for my father's voice was speaking over the wire.

"I have found the only black book in the box," he said. "It is the size you named, and it has a skull and crossbones on the fly leaf above the intertwined names of 'X' and 'Z.' Will you ask 'Z.' if this description conveys anything to her?"

I turned to Mary and repeated my father's words verbatim, conscious that Philip Veritzen's eyes were kindling with interest.

"That's the Book," Says Mary.

"I should say it does mean something," Mary said excitedly. "It brings everything back. That is the book I mean, and I am sure I shall remember everything and be able to decode Marion's letter as soon as I get it into my hands."

I turned back to the telephone and repeated her words to my father.

"Tell her she will have it in her hands in less than three hours," my father said. "I am ready to start, and shall drive directly to the Lansfield. What is the number of your room, so I can come directly to it?"

I told him, then added a quick protest.

"Father! You never are going to drive yourself!"

"I wish I could, daughter." His voice was suddenly weary with the dejection of a man who feels age hampering his activities. "But I am not able. I shall have a driver, and, because it will ease your fears, a guard also."

HOROSCOPE

FOR FRIDAY, MAY 23

Quickened energies, high hopes and greatly stimulated optimism in the direction of new and expansive propositions may be read from this day's lunar as well as mutual operations. It should be a time of making a direct and powerful attack on such major projects or objectives although there is urgent demand for more than ordinary vigilance against fraud, trickery, pernicious entanglements and subtle and crafty attacks on profits, personality and integrity. Snares and double-dealing abound where least suspected, possibly through perfidy of public agents, or when traveling, through communications or correspondence. With precaution there should be unlooked-for success and fine cooperation from those in power.

If It's Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is should be on the eve of a year of excellent progress with some surprising denouement to advance the position, increase finance and credit as well as bring unexpected benefits of large and important scope. New plans and projects should flourish, although there is a strong menace of treachery, fraud, sinister intrigue and misrepresentation from sources least suspected. Beware expressly of public agents, servants, communication or transportation officials.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

SIMPLE BUT USEFUL

HERE IS a very simple, but self-evident principle: Wherever one of the defenders has shown possession of a high honor, any other unlocated honor is somewhat more likely to be in the hand of the other defender, if there has been no bidding or previous play to indicate its location. Sometimes the probabilities in that direction may be very slight, because the honor is a secondary one such as a queen, but the rule still holds good even though to a less firm extent.

(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

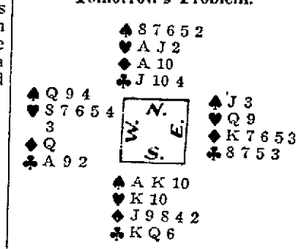
North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 ♥	Pass
2 ♣	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 NT

This hand was played soundly by Edward Ellenbogen of Philadelphia, who with Simon Becker won one of the championship events of the Skytop, Pa., tournament. After West led the spade 5 to the J and A, he offered the diamond J to the K and A. Having located one honor with West, he decided to play East for the others of importance, especially since West sat in the position where he could have made a cheap spade overcall of hearts if he had held much more than the king already shown. So he decided to finesse the clubs toward West.

The club J went through successfully, the A and K dropped the Q, two more clubs were collected and then the heart J led to the A. This could be done safely because the spades were still guarded when East returned his 3 to the K. Three good diamonds completed the play, for an unbid small slam.

Another declarer had the first two tricks, but then played the clubs toward East, whose Q won the finesse. That South ultimately had ten tricks when to the twelfth he led a heart toward his K. The A won that, and a spade gave the defenders the last trick because East, after taking the club trick, had knocked out the last spade stopper.

Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

How many tricks should South take on this deal at 3-No Trumps if perfect play is furnished by both himself and the defenders?

Rainbow Assembly Plans Coming Events

Members of the Rainbow Assembly for Girls met Wednesday evening at the K. of P. hall for their regular semi-monthly business and social meeting. Plans were made to hold a picnic May 25 at Mohican State park. Installation of officers and Rose ceremony will be held May 25 at the Masonic temple at 8 o'clock and is open to the public.

Two candidates for membership were initiated. Roses were presented to girls having birthdays in the month of April and May. Girls wishing to attend the picnic are asked to meet at the picnic pavilion at State park, 5 o'clock Sunday.

AUXILIARY MEETING.

Twenty-five attended the meeting of the Sarah Pfeifer Auxiliary No. 4 which was held at the North Lake park Wednesday. Mrs. Elesia Trisler was in charge of the business session following the covered dish supper. Mrs. Pearl Gibbony of Newark, department president, and Mrs. Daisy Hurd of Mt. Vernon, were the honored guests. Mrs. Gibbony gave a short talk and the group presented her with a gift. Plans were made for the group to attend a Memorial Day service at the First Christian church on Sunday at 10:30 a. m. The next meeting at the courthouse will be held June 4.

LAST REGULAR SESSION.

E. L. K. Sewing Circle members met Wednesday at the Women's club for a 1 o'clock luncheon and their last regular business session of the year. Mrs. W. B. Osborn served as hostess. Plans were made to devote one day a month to sewing for the Red Cross. One hundred and fifty-two articles were completed for the hospital at the meeting yesterday. Plans were made to hold a picnic some time in June. Mrs. L. J. Schubert will hold the first session when the club resumes its meetings in the fall.

BENEFIT BRIDGE.

Daughter of Isabella held a benefit bridge Wednesday evening in the club rooms. Sixteen tables of cards were in play. Two special prizes were awarded to Mrs. D. L. Maxwell and Miss Mary Rizzo. Luncheon was served at the close of the evening at small tables decorated with spring flowers. Mrs. Frank Kmetz was in charge of arrangements. The next meeting will be held Tuesday with Mrs. Frank Daley in charge.

DISCUSSION GROUP.

Members of the Family Forum held their last meeting of the season Wednesday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. with the president, Mrs. Paul Ackerman, in charge. The discussion of the afternoon was on "How Parents Annoy Their Children," and was led by Mrs. Ackerman. Two new members, Mrs. Lloyd Stuck and Mrs. Ray Osbun were welcomed to the group.

BIBLE CLASS.

Berean Bible class members of the South Main Street Evangelical church met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. J. O. Baker, Flint street, for a 12 o'clock luncheon in honor of three new members. Mrs. Jennie Hickox, Mrs. Rose McCracken and Mrs. V. Erwin. Rev. C. L. Kern gave a talk on "Being a Winner, Not a Quitter." Mrs. Harry Tontson was in charge of the program. After the program was presented the afternoon was spent socially.

JOKERS CLUB.

Mrs. Lloyd Ohler, 301 East Fourth street, entertained members of the Jokers club at her home Wednesday afternoon. Nine members and one guest, Mrs. Hayes Hoag, were in attendance. Games were played and prizes won by Mrs. Darrell Kidwell, Mrs. Harold Beach, Mrs. Paul Alexander, Mrs. Carey Norris and Mrs. Hoag. The next meeting will be held June 4 at the home of Mrs. Kidwell, Purdy street.

Miriam Rebekah Lodge Holds Meeting

Miriam Rebekah lodge, No. 388, met Wednesday afternoon at the I. O. O. F. temple for their regular business meeting. Mrs. Mae McFarland, noble grand, presided over the business session. A visiting committee, composed of Mrs. Emma Case and Mrs. Mary Moser, was named.

A commission from the president, re-appointing Della Cochran as deputy president for the coming year, was read by the secretary. Grand Master of Ohio, John Hoffman, issued an announcement of the observance of "Home Pilgrimage Day" that is being held June 8 at Springfield and invited all Mansfield lodge members to attend.

Mrs. Marie Heuss, chairman of the Red Cross committee, gave a report on the work being done by the lodge for the benefit of the local Red Cross chapter. The next regular business meeting will be held June 4 at the I. O. O. F. temple.

LAST MEETING.

Members of the Prospect Park association held their last meeting of the season Wednesday evening at the part pavilion. The committee in charge was composed of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cook, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Daugherty, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Kramer and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hartwell. Fifty-six were present and enjoyed cards following the dinner. Bridge prizes were given to Mrs. Sam Hollingsworth and Harry Uplinger, and five hundred awards went to Mr. James Peyton and Emerson Buker. Red, white and blue was the color scheme used for the table appointments. Meetings will be resumed on Sept. 17 with Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Logan, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gabor, Mr. and Mrs. Don Orewiler, Mr. and Mrs. Romie Sneeringer and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Voughn in charge.

DELANO AUXILIARY.

Mrs. Bessie Ricks was in charge of meeting of the Delano Auxiliary which was held at the Delano hall Wednesday evening. Twenty attended the business session and welcomed a new member, Mrs. Eva Benick. Plans were completed for a Father's Day dinner to be held at the hall June 3 at 6:30 p. m., with Mrs. Elizabeth Blocker in charge of arrangements. Following the covered dish dinner a program will be presented. Members of the new auditing committee are as follows: Mrs. Mary Shambaugh, Mrs. Mildred Anderson and Mrs. Hedwick Hamilton. Mrs. Edith Ogden won the prize during the social hour. The next regular meeting will be held June 18.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mapes, 61 East First street, entertained Wednesday evening in honor of the 21st birthday anniversary of their son, Harry. A group of friends attended the party, with games and cards as the diversions. Refreshments were served at a late hour. The guests presented him with many gifts. Out-of-town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Coats of Ashland, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mapes of Loudonville.

SWAN is here!

THE FIRST REALLY NEW WHITE FLOATING SOAP SINCE THE GAY NINETIES!

HARD-WATER SUFFERERS—WAIT TILL YOU SEE HOW SWAN GIVES QUICKER, RICHER SUDS IN THE HARDEST WATER! WAIT TILL YOU FEEL SWAN—SMELL IT—USE IT! SWAN IS BETTER IN 8 GRAND WAYS!

1. LOOK! MAKES HARD WATER SOFT-HEARTED!
Come, all you hard-water sufferers! Swan suds two times quicker—in hardest water! Gives you abundant, rich suds in water "hard enough to cut diamonds!" While old-style floating soaps raise a few skimpy bubbles, Swan suds up in hard water something grand!

2. LOOK! RICHER, CREAMIER LATHER, TOO!
Swan is not only speedier in hard water. It gives richer, creamier, more luxurious lather. Far more lather, too. Suds so smooth and soft they feel like velvet! Suds that don't go "blah" in the dishpan; lather that stands up in the washbowl, in the tub!

3. LOOK! SWAN'S WHITER! IT'S AS PURE AS IMPORTED CASTILE!
Pure? Why, you couldn't buy a purer soap than Swan! And Swan's as mild as imported castile. For baby's tender skin, for your lovely hands—Swan is gentle as can be. Ask your doctor about Swan's purity and mildness. He has the details in his medical journals.

4. LOOK! SWAN IS MUCH FIRMER! LASTS, LASTS, LASTS!
You know how old-fashioned floating soaps are often so soft you can push your thumb into a cake. Well—here's another surprise for you! Feel Swan! It's more solid . . . harder by far than old-time floating soaps. Swan has much less moisture. It lasts and lasts. Swan won't warp, either.

5. LOOK! BREAKS SMOOTHER—EASILY!
Notice the way Swan breaks—without knife or string! No jagged, crumbly edges. Here are two beautiful cakes; one perfect for the kitchen, the other swell for the bathroom.

6. LOOK! SMELLS FRESH AS A DAISY!
Swan smells cleaner, fresher. Not strong or harsh!

7. FEEL HOW SMO-O-OTH IT IS!
Swan is finer-textured, far smoother than old-type floating soaps—really more like finest toilet soaps.

8. LOOK! MORE REAL SOAP FOR YOUR MONEY!
There's actually far less moisture in Swan than in old-type floating soaps. It's more real soap for your money. You don't have to store a supply to harden and dry out. We do it for you.

LOOK! SWAN BOBS UP ALL OVER THE HOUSE!
For face, hands, bath; for baby; for silks, dishes, woodwork—for anything that needs soaping, Swan's your buy!

DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK IF...
Compare Swan with any other floating soap, point for point. Then if you don't say "Swan for us"—send the wrapper to Swan Lever Brothers Co., Cambridge, Mass., and we'll pay double your money back.

SENIORS PLAN FINAL EVENTS OF SCHOOL YEAR

Tuesday To Be Last Day For Classes, Programs Prior To Graduation Arranged.

Tuesday will be the last school day for members of the graduating class at Mansfield Senior high school. The year's work must be completed by that time, school officials announced today.

Meanwhile, finishing touches were being placed on plans for the last Senior class activities.

The calendar for the class begins with a tea given by the A. A. U. W. at the Westbrook country club Tuesday for senior girls who are planning to attend college.

Class day exercises will be held Thursday at 1:30 p. m. in the school auditorium. Scholarship awards will be presented at that time by Jesse Beer, principal.

Baccalaureate services will be at the First Lutheran church Sunday, June 1, at 7:30 p. m. Rev. Herbert S. Garnes, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran church, will deliver the sermon.

The senior party will be held in the cafeteria and gymnasium of the high school Tuesday evening, June 3.

Commencement exercises will be held Thursday, June 5, at 6 p. m. at the school stadium. If the weather is inclement the exercises will be held in the auditorium.

Dr. Harlan Hatcher, professor of English at Ohio State university, will give the commencement address. His topic will be, "Ohio Faces the Future."

NATIONAL GUARD NEEDS BARBERS

WORCESTER, Mass. — (U.P.) — "Calling all barbers with a yen for a uniform and a good pair of military brushes!"

Col. Roy W. Smith, commander of the 181st Infantry of the National guard, is having hair trouble. With only one barber in the regiment, the boys, if called to active duty, will face the prospect of "looking like the old Indian fighters after they came back," he says, "with long manes streaming down over their shoulders."

Until a number of volunteer hair-clippers are mustered, wails Col. Smith, the boys will have to continue to give each other those "butch" haircuts.

Don't Stay FAT and Unattractive

Read How Many Women Lose Fat Promptly—Safely! No Harmful Drugs!

If you are overweight, try this easy, sensible way to take off fat!

Get on the scales today and see how much you weigh, then get a bottle of Kruschen Salts (a famous English formula) which will last four weeks and is inexpensive. Take one half teaspoonful in a glass of water every morning before breakfast. Cut out pastry and fatty meats—go light on white bread, potatoes, butter, and cream and when you have finished the first bottle, weigh yourself again.

Now you'll know the safe, sensible way to lose ugly fat.

Ask any druggist for a bottle of Kruschen Salts, plain or new effervescent — sparkling — pleasant, and start today to make an honest effort to lose fat. Satisfaction guaranteed or money back. —Adv.

Federal Project Trains Girls for Key Defense Jobs

NEW YORK—(INS)—In an effort to fill the defense needs for skilled labor, the National Youth Administration has instituted a project in Connecticut under which girls are being trained to operate turret lathes, shapers and drill presses in the machine-tool industry.

Federal machine tool establishments have been set up in Stamford, New Haven, Norwich and Danielson and plans are under way for units in other cities.

Richard A. Barrett, state N. Y. A. administrator, explained that the project is not a school course, but that the girls start right at the work that is needed. The foremen are obtained through employment agencies and applications filed through other sources, he said.

Equipped with the most modern machine tool devices, the centers have duplicated conditions in private plants, because employers have pointed out that workers trained in productive shops are more valuable than those coming to factories from trade schools.

LODGE ENVOYS

Two From City to Attend B'nai B'rith Convention.

Dr. B. W. Stern and Albert Cousins will represent Mansfield lodge of B'nai B'rith at the 89th annual convention of the District Grand Lodge in Columbus Saturday through Tuesday. Dr. A. D. Smith and M. J. Berer are alternate delegates.

Lieut. Governor Paul Herbert and Mayor Paul Green, of Columbus, will be among the speakers at the convention.

EVOLUTION SHOWN

CANTON — (U.P.) — W. D. R. Evans, Canton, has a collection of swords from all over the world, dating back to 1400. They are arranged on the walls of his study to show the evolution of the sword from an efficient hand-to-hand weapon to today's formal dress sword.

Convicts Give Up Attempt to Flee 'Rock'

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

You Meet Such Interesting People.

(And It's the Little Things That Fascinate You!)

JOAN CRAWFORD has been in New York three weeks and she's only been in one night club. She's in bed every night by 12, and her favorite hangout is a Fifth avenue soda shoppe.

Dorothy Kilgallen

Rufe Davis, the hillbilly movie comic, actually keeps 150 pounds of hay in his hotel room. He can't sleep without it, and moves out of any hotel that won't let him bring his bales in.

Allyn Joslyn has the same breakfast every day—a malted milk and three eggs. Ugh! . . . Veronica Lake, the new Hollywood glamor gal, actually started out to be a doctor. She spent two years at McGill university in Canada wrestling with textbooks and cadavers before she decided that showing her lovely torso—instead of carving up other people's—was her metier.

Lillian Hellman, the dramatist, is one of Broadway's coolest gamblers. She'll roll the dice or turn the cards with the smart money for all they want to bet. . . . Victor Mature has posed for over 2,000 pictures in the last two months.

Loudest ties in the cafe set are worn by Jack Pearl, Sherman Billingsley, Morton Downey, Hal LeRoy, Jim Moriarity and Mark Hanna. . . . Raymond Massey is a puppet fancier. He and Mrs. M. have seen the Walton and O'Rourke puppets at the Rainbow room so many times the puppets call them by their first names!

Honeychile Wilder, the Circe of El Morocco, got her nickname some years ago when she came up from the deep Sooth with a heavy Georgia accent.

While she was playing a small part in "Crime Without Passion," she addressed everybody from the property men to Hecht and MacArthur, as "Honeychile." As a rib, Charlie MacArthur began calling her "Honeychile," and now she's known by that moniker to bus boy and maharajah alike.

Xavier Cugat's pet expression is 'I'll buy a dozen" and he says it at intervals whether it dovetails with the conversation or not. . . . Kimi Toye, the Oriental songstress, doesn't collect photographs of celebrities—she collects pictures of Kimi Toye!

Kay Francis dances without her shoes when she wants to look less tall.

On one of Lana Turner's last evenings in New York she went to see a musical and was astonished at intermission when a woman in the audience rushed up to her and said "I knew it, I knew it!" "Knew what?" asked Lana." That you were Phyllis Brooks!" cried the babe.

Louis B. Mayer is one of the biggest lads in Hollywood, financially speaking, and can afford to indulge expensive hobbies like horse racing or yachting, but his real passion is baseball. He can talk you dizzy about the batting and pitching averages of all the old timers—although he hasn't been able to see a major league game for years, he can make talk about the current doings in the national pastime better than most first rate sports writers.

Ethel Merman wears her diamond and ruby bracelets with her cocoa-colored slacks, which is a good trick if you've got 'em. . . . Artie Shaw collects modern water colors.

Sylvia Fairbanks has a trick of wearing clothes almost exactly like those worn by her best friend. She and Connie Bennett used to appear frequently in identical polka dots and sables; now Sylvia and Norma Shearer are the near twins.

John LaTouche dashes off lyrics to a song in 10 minutes, writing with his left hand in a dirty schoolboy's notebook.

Funniest job I've ever come across belongs to Pat O'Connor. He's a bowling alley tester. Currently, he's testing the new alleys at the Roxy Bowling Center. His work consists of sitting down on the alley and sliding up and down its length looking for splinters!

William Saroyan likes girls who don't say much. His real girl is an Armenian lass in San Francisco who has spaces between her teeth and just sits and smiles at him.

Carmen Miranda almost always walks on wedgies. . . . Sonny Tufts, who sings at the Glass Hat, conducted the famous "Millionaire's" Orchestra" at Yale—comprised of lads who rode around in cars valued at a total of $85,000.

SAYS MILLIONS SPENT ON ONE WRITER PROJECT

Witness Tells Committee In Cleveland $2,500,000 or More Used.

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)—The state senate investigating committee closed an inquiry into Cuyahoga county WPA administration today after a former employe testified that between $2,500,000 and $5,000,000 had been spent producing a single writers project publication.

Senator Albert L. Daniels, R., Highland, after hearing Forrest A. Henderson testify that the sum had been spent on a newspaper digest, branded the expenditure as a "most damnable and wasteful expenditure of the people's money."

Henderson, formerly employed on the Cleveland WPA writers' project said most of the publication "got dumped into the waste basket."

Daniels and Senator James Metzenbaum, D., Cuyahoga, were unable to get any information from Morris J. Schwartz, 32, local employment director, who said he could not answer questions "because of WPA regulations."

Metenbaum then termed Schwartz " the greatest faker, the most contemptible hypocrite and the most hated individual in the WPA organization in Cuyahoga county."

Schwartz said he was under instructions not to give any information to the committee.

Miss Alice Miskell, head of a project, told the committee WPA employes had been working on a Cleveland guide for five years and that it still was unfinished. She said it had cost $300,000 to date.

The inquiry today brought from Prof. Charles F. Rhor, head of the department of journalism of Cleveland college and chairman of the Citizens Advisory committee to the WPA writers projects, this statement:

"The committee in its confusion about the projects here is making a great deal out of molehills. Our committee has been working with Miss Alice Miskell, in charge of writing projects, for about eight months and we consider her competent to do the job."

Up and Down the Street

A 108-year-old deed signed by A. J. Donelson who was secretary to Andrew Jackson when he was president was recorded yesterday by County Recorder D. D. Orewiler. The deed, which is on parchment and is well preserved, was for 145 acres of land in Jefferson township which Joseph Harsh purchased at a government land sale in Wooster in 1833. At the top of the deed was this line. "To all to whom these presents shall come, Greetings."

While a crowd looked on, city parks employes yesterday "cleaned house" in the fountain in Central park, removing the debris that accumulated during the winter. The goldfish colony in the fountain swam today in shimmering green water which showed the fish to better advantage. Among the articles taken out of the fountain were beer bottles, cigaret wrappers, papers, marbles, slugs that resembled money in the water, and a thick coating of moss inside the fountain.

County Engineer Howard Sword and his workers answered complaints about dusty roads today by starting to spread 100,000 gallons of oil on county highways in front of rural homes. Because of the dry spring, scores of rural residents have called the engineer about dust clouds that automobiles leave. "It will take about two weeks to spread the oil, so we'll probably be getting requests from a lot of people who want to put oil in front of their homes first," the engineer said, adding that "We'll get to all of them as soon as we can." The oil, costing $6,250, will be taken from tank cars in Mansfield, Bellville, Shelby, Lexington, Shiloh, and Ontario.

Three city nurses were chagrined last night upon arrival at the benefit concert for the Mansfield Senior high school a cappella choir to find the admission price much higher than they had expected. Economy proved much stronger than their love for music, however, and the nurses adjourned to a nearby drug store where they each had a coke and listened to music from a jute box.

FAIL TO CUT WINDOW BARS AT ALCATRAZ

Guard Persuades Them to Give Up Escape Try After Being Overpowered.

(By International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO — Four of the nation's toughest convicts, all serving life terms, were isolated in dark cells of Alcatraz prison today after literally being "talked-out" of a desperate escape attempt by one of four prison officials they had captured.

The convicts held the federal prison mat shop on the northwest tip of Alcatraz Island for two and a half hours with their captives gagged and bound on the floor and eight other non-participating convicts herded into an adjoining room.

But tool-proof steel bars of "the rock" proved too much for them. A stolen motor-driven emery wheel failed to dent the barriers of the mat shop and they were persuaded by guard captain Paul Madigan to abandon the attempt.

Warden James A. Johnston identified the men as Joseph Paul Cretzer, 28, and his brother-in-law, Arnold Thomas Kyle, 27, who are serving 25 years for bank robberies on the Pacific Coast and life for the murder of a Tacoma federal marshal during an escape attempt last year; Lloyd H. Barkdoll, Oregon bank robber described by Warden Johnston as the escape plot leader, and Sam R. Shockley, an Oklahoma bank robber and kidnaper.

One by one the quartet overcome and trussed Clyne E. Stoops, guard; C. J. Manning, superintendent of prison industries; Lionel Johnston, yards area officer, and Madigan, captain of the yard.

From 1 p. m. to 3:30 p. m. yesterday Barkdoll and his mates attempted to crack the outside steel bars of a window after smashing the inside detention sash.

The four men lured Stoops into one of the rooms of the mat shop on the pretense a machine was out of order. They bound him with heavy bundle twine and gagged him. Then they herded other convicts into a separate room and went to work on the window, using a pipe to pry off the re-inforced inside casement.

One of the convicts remained posted at the door as a lookout, and when the other guards entered they were captured.

At no time were weapons used on the officers, who were overpowered by surprise and strength of numbers.

Finally Captain Manning pointed out to the prisoners it was time for the officers to ring in the administration building and that an alarm would be sounded if the officers failed to ring in. They were about ready to give up anyway, having failed to cut through even one bar.

They freed Madigan, who phoned the administration building. By the time other guards got there he was leading them away.

BOOKS COUNTY FARM MEETINGS

AAA Schedule Series of Educational Sessions Prior to Wheat Election.

A series of nine meetings throughout the county to acquaint farmers with details of the wheat marketing election scheduled for Saturday, May 31, was announced today by Guy Taylor, county AAA chairman.

The election, first of its kind ever conducted in the United States, will determine whether the federal government shall limit the amount of wheat farmers can sell this year.

It will be conducted by AAA committees in each community with polls scheduled to open at 7 a. m. and close at 5 p. m. Farmers and land owners with 15 acres of wheat expected to produce at least 200 bushels of grain this year will be eligible to vote.

Voting places will be set up in five county communities, including Mansfield and Shelby, Taylor said. Places where the votes will be cast and members of the special election committees had not been chosen today.

The meetings, all due to open at 8 p. m., will start in the Shelby town hall next Saturday night. Dates and places for the others are:

Lexington grange hall, May 26; Worthing township grange hall, May 26; Ontario schol, May 27; Lucas high school, May 27; Shiloh school, May 28; County AAA office in Mansfield, May 28; Shenandoah grange hall, May 29; Jefferson grange hall, Bellville, May 29.

Chris Kainrad, state AAA committeeman, will talk at the Shelby session. County committeemen will outline election plans at the other meetings, Taylor said.

POPPIES SENT TO MANSFIELD INDUSTRIES FOR SALE TODAY

American Legion auxiliary members delivered poppies today to Mansfield industries co-operating with the auxiliary in its annual Poppy day sale Saturday by handling poppies for employes.

Seventeen factories received anywhere from 25 to 3,000 poppies, according to the number of employes, Mrs. Frank Duff, poppy chairman, announced. Westinghouse will have 3,000 for sale.

Sale of the 12,000 poppies purchased by the auxiliary this year from disabled veterans in the Ohio Soldiers and Sailors' Home in Sandusky will provide funds for veterans who receive no other compensation.

They are part of the Ohio auxiliary quota, 650,000, and will be sold on the streets by Boy Scouts and Junior auxiliary members.

Approximately 80 Scouts and Junior members will report at the Legion home Friday night for their poppies so that they can be out early Saturday morning to greet the first workers. Last year the sale of a similar number of poppies was completed before noon.

Scouts will return to the Legion home at noon to report to the checking committee and for a lunch served by an auxiliary committee.

Distribution of the poppies today was in charge of Mrs. Duff, Mrs. Rolland Hoffman, Mrs. Owen Smith, Mrs. Earl Saltzgaber, Mrs. William Henry and Mrs. Hollis Moorhead.

LEGION GUESTS

Boys' State Youths, Baseball Team Entertained By Post.

Boys' State sponsors and members of the American Legion junior baseball team were entertained along with Legion members at a chicken dinner last night at the Legion home. The dinner was served by members of the auxiliary.

An honored guest was Louise Briggs of Madison high school, winner of the Mansfield, district and state American Legion essay contest.

Sponsors of boys for Boys' State include: Amima club, American Legion, Knights of Columbus, Alfred I. Harrington post, V. F. W., Chamber of Commerce, Junior Association of Commerce, Forty and Eight, Mansfield police department, Eagles, Marine Corps League, Carpenters' local 735 A. F. L., and Mud Gardner.

Individual sponsors, and representatives of sponsoring organizations gave short talks in the meeting that followed the dinner.

Warm Days Bring Jump In Truancy In City Schools

Warm days, bringing on a sharp increase in truancy, reduced attendance in Mansfield schools from 93.2 per cent in March to 91.1 per cent last month, principals' reports to Supt. W. L. Miller showed today.

John Simpson Junior high school topped the other schools with a 95.6 per cent attendance in April while Johnny Appleseed Junior high was next with 95 per cent.

Truancy showed a sharp gain in April, with 57 cases reported as compared to only 28 in March. Six schools had all of the truancies in April, Senior high reporting 20 cases, more than any other school. John Simpson Junior high reported 15 cases and Johnny Appleseed Junior high, nine.

Tardiness declined in April to 650 cases as compared to 810 in March. Senior high had the most cases, 199. Bowman school was second with 130.

Last month, 2,358 pupils were neither absent nor tardy. During March 2,946 pupils had a perfect record.

FARM MOVIES

Three Films to Be Shown on Agricultural Program Friday.

Three sound and color motion pictures of special interest to farmers will be shown at 8:30 p. m. Friday in the Johnny Appleseed Junior high school auditorium on Cline avenue, under sponsorship of the Richland county soil conservation committee. The movies will be free and open to the public.

Guy Taylor, county AAA chairman, said the program will include a picture on erosion and its effects, another on the production of wheat, and a third on the part farmers will play in the national defense program. There will also be a cartoon.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD — Pity the poor plot-contrivers who must carry on the Dorothy Lamour formula.

Essential ingredients, as you know, are a sweetie in a sarong and a cataclysm of nature (as in "The Hurricane," "Typhoon," "Her Jungle Love" et al).

In "Typhoon" the saronged Lamour was tossed by the big wind, singed by a forest fire, drenched by a tidal wave which put out the fire. Wind-fire - wave made a formidable combination. How to top it in "Aloma of the South Seas?" They called on Krakatoa, the East Indies island which "exploded" in the 1880's. But how to top Krakatoa in the next saronged adventure? Well, they might star Lamour in a piece about the end of the world.

ROBBIN COONS

Bonita Granville, who yesterday was a nasty little brat in "These Three" and became famous as the meanest little meanie on the screen, is 18 now, a wholesomely radiant youthful edition of a combined Norma Shearer-Ann Harding type. She's been growing up on the screen too, and in the gossip columns, which lately have been brewing a romance for her with Jackie Cooper.

Bonita denies "romance," refers to "the gang," admits that within "the gang" there's usually a pairing-off, and that Bonita and Jackie (within "the gang," of course) usually make a pair. Does it remind you, some way, of the younger set in your own home town?

In logical sequence to the set-dressing miracle which brought a mountain to DeMille for "North West Mounted Police," another is under way for his "Reap the Wild Wind." DeMille will have his own private sea, a glass and steel tank, 100 feet long, on the beach at Malibu. DeMille, you can readily see, will be in his glory, for as actors Ray Milland and John Wayne in full diving equipment descend for closeup scenes, DeMille in a diving helmet will direct. But I'm worried. There's a fellow who, on prosaic land scenes, has the job of seeing that DeMille, whenever he sits, always has a chair handy. Suppose the fellow can't swim.

Sport Podge by REX HESS

I was nudged out of five years of golf inactivity day before yesterday for the privilege of taking a links lesson from Maurice Byrnes, the B-league blaster, and his good wife, Alice, and when I say good, I mean on those greens she was queen of May for a day.

The fact that she shot a good 45 was neither here nor there. It was the putting that got me. Not in many a moon, or sun, have I seen such a job of pellet-potting as she performed that day. And I've seen the best, Guldahl and Smith and the rest.

Several one-putt, long-shot greens she had, and up close to that cup she was sure death on wheels.

But the best she saves until last, and this one it will take me a long time to get over. I'm only glad the lesson was for the free.

On that darn-near 45-degree sloping No. 9 green at Possum, with the cup up near the peak of the carpet, her ball is lying hole-high and 20 feet away. Her putt, aimed four feet above the can, takes the roll and comes almost to a dead stop directly above the cup and just a foot away.

Then it turns, and with eyes in the mesh, and with strings on, it trickles in for the toughest par four on the course.

Oh, don't you remember sweet
Alice, Ben Bolt,
Sweet Alice with hair so brown?
She was putting away on a bright summer day,
With all of her putts plopping down.

(Haul me away Farmer Gray. I'm getting' maudlin again. And you'd be maudlin' too if you'd seen what I seen on Possum's ninth green. It just ain't possible.)

Personal note to Jo Lee, soc. editor of the Mt. Vernon News: Thanks keed for saying some of my poetry "ain't bad." And that ain't all, honey chile, it ain't even poetry. It's jingles. And some of it ain't even that. Ain't it?

(These personal notes save me a lot of letter writing and a lot of letter writing is something I ain't up to.)

That "ain't" is getting an awful kicking around today, but before we're through with it I'll give you this one from Fotog Frank Walters, though I don't know why:
"Whadya say kid?
"I ain't just sayin' it!"

DAYTON WOMAN LEADS IN GOLF TOURNAMENT

COLUMBUS —(AP)— The second and final 18 holes in the Ohio Women's Medal Play golf tournament got under way here today with Mrs. James Platt of Dayton enjoying a four-stroke lead over a field of 61 feminine swingers.

Mrs. Platt shot a 77 over the Columbus Country club course yesterday. Dorothy Gardner of Steubenville toured the 18 holes in 81 for second place, and Mrs. Jack Searl, Akron publinks champ, followed with 84.

Al Smith Gets Hill Chore

Follows Feller's Fine 11-Inning Victory.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — If Al Smith, Cleveland southpaw, doesn't beat Washington today it won't be because he has been overworked.

Smith hasn't pitched for exactly two weeks, losing to New York 5 to 4 in his last start. His season record is three victories and two defeats. The Senators selected Sid Hudson, showing three triumphs and three setbacks, to oppose the crafty portsider.

Bob Feller, who seems always to be just about as tough as he has to be to win, shut out Washington with four blows yesterday to take an 11-inning battle, 4 to 0. The decision snapped a three-game losing streak and widened Cleveland's first-place lead over Chicago to three games.

* * *

The Indians got to Ken Chase for 10 hits, but had to wait until the second extra inning before they could bunch enough singles to score.

The Redskins went into the final game of their eastern trip with six victories and three setbacks, all the defeats coming at the hands of Philadelphia.

Manager Roger Peckinpaugh announced that Al Milnar would pitch against St. Louis tomorrow night in Cleveland.

The St. Louis Cardinals, carving with as much delicacy as so many carpenters, have completed a serious operation for the removal of excess wind from the Brooklyn Dodgers. Even a victory in today's final game of the western trip wouldn't save Brooklyn from returning to the banks of the Gowanus canal in second place in the National league.

The Cardinals clubbed the Dodgers into their fifth straight defeat yesterday 9-3 with a vicious 13-hit assault. The chief slasher was a young outfielder named Herman Coaker Triplett, who treated the Cardinals to a home run, a single with the bases loaded, and an extraneous double and single.

The five-game winning streak of the second place Chicago White Sox was snapped by the Philadelphia Athletics, whose 7-6 victory was their fourth in a row.

The New York Yankees knocked the Detroit Tigers out of third place with a ten-inning 5-4 victory achieved on a two-run rally that tied the score in the ninth and Red Rolfe's triple scoring the winning run in the tenth.

The St. Louis Browns banged out four home runs in the first five innings but were beaten 8-6 by the Boston Red Sox.

The New York Giants solved the pitching magic of Bucky Walters and cuffed the Cincinnati Reds 6-3 in ten innings. After being shut out for eight frames, they punched three doubles and a single to tie the count in the ninth and shoved over three more runs in the tenth. Three pitchers held the Reds to six hits.

The Pittsburgh Pirates spotted the Boston Braves a four-run lead in the first inning and then battled back to an 8-4 decision. The Cubs pounced on the Phillies 7-3.

BASEBALL DROPS

NEW YORK —(AP)— Baseball may still be America's favorite game but that no longer goes for New York boys. A poll of nearly 9,000 members of the Children's Aid society's 10 boys' club in the city gave basketball the No. 1 spot.

Baseball, leader in previous years' polls, came in second.

BOSTON—(INS)—As a result of an investigation which stewards allege showed two horses at Suffolk Downs were "doped"—and won at lucrative odds—all horses owned or trained by C. A. Grande and F. Carra have been suspended from racing at the East Boston track.

Cases of the two men have been referred to the state racing commission.

Tygers Notch 10th Victory

Beat Millersburg By 16-0 Shutout Route.

In their final competitive tune-up for the Ohio high school golf tournament this week-end at Columbus, Coach V. H. Oberlander's unbeaten Mansfield High niblick swingers yesterday notched their tenth victory of the season, a 16 to 0 shutout of Millersburg at Possum Run.

Jim Hagerty played in place of the injured Nick Komjenovich but that didn't disturb the even balance of the Tyger quartet.

Al Hager again paced the Mansfielders with a one-under-par 71, George Davis had a 79, Hagerty an 81 and Joe Collins 82.

For Millersburg Leppal had 79, Russell, 85, Van Sickle 84 and Bowers 94.

The Tygers left for Columbus this morning for a practice round over the University course, scene of the state tournament of Friday and Saturday.

In the event Komjenovich's injured hip fails to mend by tomorrow, Hagerty again will take his place in the Mansfield lineup.

Following the tournament the Tygers have two more matches, at Sandusky next Thursday, and at Wooster on Saturday of next week.

Jimmy Takes Golf Seriously

Demaret Trims 20 Pounds From Frame; Helps Game.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Jimmy Demaret, the man who found out you can't be the local hero and a winning professional golfer at the same time, starts out today to make up a lot of lost ground. The means to that end is the Goodall round-robin, a 126-hole merry-go-round that goes on for four days and brings the winner $1,000.

Last winter Demaret was the sensation of the pros' coast-to coast tour. He played in nine tournaments and won six. His last and most important victory was in the Augusta Masters, and when Jimmy got back home to Houston the citizens of that Texas metropolis virtually gave him the city.

But then came the summer of his rude awakening. He trekked north for the Goodall tourney and finished next-to-last. He went on to Cleveland for the National Open and picked up in disgust over his own poor performance.

This spring has found a new Demaret (or perhaps the old one back) hard at work on his new job at the Wee Burn club in Noroton, Conn. He has trimmed off almost 20 pounds, and has been playing progressively keener golf.

Demaret, with favorite Ben Hogan, Craig Wood, Gene Sarazen, Lawson Little, Corp. Ed (Porky) Oliver and the rest, will take part in a "gold lesson" to precede this afternoon's opening round. Each man will demonstrate his particular specialty.

Marty McManus, manager of the Browns' San Antonio farm, is the man being talked as Fred Haney's successor if the team doesn't start going somewhere—and soon. (Personally, we doubt if anybody could get any more out of that club than Haney has) . . . Ringside pews at next month's Conn-Louis tea party will set you back $27. . . . Until yesterday Bob Feller had shut out every club in the American league except Washington—and it took him 11 heats to blank the Senators. . . . And to think, it wasn't two weeks ago that one of the Brooklyn papers referred to the Giants as "Them Bums!"

JIMMY HULL AWARDED SCARLET KEY HONOR

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— Jimmy Hull, one of Ohio State's basketball greats, has crashed the school's All-American football row.

Scarlet Key, the athletic managers association, revealed today that it would dedicate a tree in Hull's honor near the university gymnasium. Heretofore, only All-American gridders have been honored in such fashion.

Baer, Louis Predict K. O.

"I'll Be Next Champ," Says Chump of Month.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The training grind ended, Champion Joe Louis and Challenger Buddy Baer loafed today but each summoned up enough energy to make advance claims to a knockout victory in tomorrow night's 15-round heavyweight championship bout.

"Baer will be as tough as anyone I've fought, but I expect to knock him out in less than 10 rounds," Louis said.

"Buddy is big, and can punch, so it ought to be a good battle."

From Buddy, training at nearby Olney, Md., came this comment:

"I'm in better condition than ever before. I think I can get to Louis with my right, and if I do I'll be the next champion."

* * *

In the popular mind, Louis ruled about a 6-1 choice to defend his crown successfully for the 17th time. There was little wagering in evidence, however, but the betting market may pick up with the arrival of New York fans. Promoter Mike Jacobs looked for an invasion from Manhattan, numbering about 6,000.

The champion and challenger will weigh at the offices of the District of Columbia Boxing commission tomorrow.

Braves Beat Findlay, Meet Tiffin Tonight

Clowson Dons Mitt To Handle Rudy Okleson's Slants; Ankrum Stars

FRESH from an 8 to 7 victory last night at Findlay, Mansfield's Braves open a home-and-home series tonight at the Fairground with Tiffin in a battle for second place in the Ohio State league.

The Braves now lead Tiffin by half a game and that same margin is all that separates Manager Alex Clowson's boys from the first place Findlay Oilers.

Tiffin soaked up a 16-8 trouncing last night at the hands of Fostoria, while Lima dropped its fifth game in six starts, a 4-3 nudging by Fremont.

Fremont made only six hits, and booted the ball for five errors, while Lima was collecting eight blows and committing only one bobble, but the Green Sox had that necessary one-run margin at the close of hostilities.

Mansfield needed six runs in the last two innings for its one-run victory over Findlay, and Rudy Okleson, starting hurler, needed Tony Drewek's help to halt a two-run rally by the Oilers in the ninth.

But Tony had what it took in the clutch and the Braves returned to their winning ways. Going to the mound with the tying run on third and the winning marker on first for Findlay, Drewek fanned pinch-hitter Jack Griffore for the final out.

In an effort to steady a wavering hurling staff, Manager Clowson donned the catcher's mask and mitt last night and did a fine job of receiving on Okleson's slants, getting 11 putouts which included seven strikeouts, and Drewek's game-winning whiffo.

But Eddie Mutryn, who had been doing the catching since Tim Mangan was injured, was not to be counted out of this ball game. Eddie batted for McGrath during the four-run eighth-inning rally and blasted a triple off the left field fence. He finished up in right field.

Bob Ankrum continued his slugging splurge with a three-base blow, while Clowson, Seigbert and Salem checked in with doubles. Seigbert led the Braves' attack with three hits in as many trips to the platter.

Fielding gem of the game was Ankrum's running pick-up of Krause's low line drive in the fifth, and his throw to first to nip the runner by plenty.

Lanahan Blanks Milwaukee Club

(By Associated Press)

The colorful Dizzy Dean said recently that his biggest thrill in a long pitching career was the 11 to 0 win he scored for St. Louis over Detroit in the windup game of the 1934 world series. Last night, Dick Lanahan of St. Paul's American association club must have known how Dizzy felt after leaving the mound.

For Lanahan let Milwaukee down with only two hits as St. Paul whipped the Brewers 11-0. Lanahan, a southpaw, gave no bases on balls and struck out six, pitching to only 27 men. An all-time league record was equalled when the Brewers had no men left on base.

Louisville swept its three-game series with Columbus, taking the final game 4 to 3 as Artie Parks singled in the ninth and came home as Chet Morgan tripled. With the Minneapolis-Kansas City game postponed because of wet grounds, Louisville's win tightened the Colonels' hold on second place behind Kansas City.

Indianapolis chalked up an 8-7 victory over Toledo in a game halted after seven innings to permit Toledo to catch a train.

Title Bout Not Liked At Home

New York Commission Refuses Recognition.

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK—(AP)—The prophet without honor had nothing on Anton Christoforidis and Gus Lesnevich in their fight tonight.

The Greek and the Russian from Jersey bang each other around Madison Square Garden's ring in a bout that is recognized for the world light heavyweight championship in most every place except where they're fighting.

Just how this came about, the fellows that run those old feuding partners, the National Boxing association and the New York state athletic commission, can't exactly tell you. Promoter Mike Jacobs turned the trick, and he expects some 10,000 fans to watch it happen—after they kick in to a gross pot of about $25,000 of course.

It's much too long a story to explain in detail. It started when the N. B. A. took its title blessing from Billy Conn last winter and matched Christoforidis and Melio Bettina, the ex-champ, in Cleveland, with the stipulation that the winner would be recognized as head man, but would have to meet Lesnevich in a few weeks.

Of course, the NBA expected this tussle would come off somewhere in its own territory. But Uncle Mike already had first call on Lesnevich's services, a hangover from Gus' two previous futile attempts to win the 175-pound crown from Conn. So Gus couldn't fight for any promoter but Mike, who doesn't bar NBA territory as a field of operation, but who has to fill his dates in the Garden first.

At that, Uncle Mike might have sent the Lesnevich-Christoforidis fuss into Cleveland or some other NBA spot, but the boys in the Ohio city gave him the chill shoulder on another matter—his suggestion to hold the Joe Louis-Tony Musto brawl there. This turned out to be a better than fair attraction for St. Louis, but Cleveland didn't want it. So Promoter Jacobs figured if they didn't want one, why bother to propose the other.

The New York commission as well as California and Pennsylvania meantime, still recognize Conn as the champion, inasmuch as no other light-heavyweight has even come close to beating Billy Boy in a ring.

* * *

The NBA is more or less forced to look upon tonight's waltz as a title affair, while the New York commission only regards it as the first in a series of two to decide the new champion.

Isalys Trounce Humphryes

Coalmen and Tappans Play to 7-7 Tie.

Isaly Dairy softballers bounced Humphryes, 20 to 7 at Prospect park yesterday while the N. & W. Coalmen and Tappans played a 7 to 7 tie at Johns park, and the Athletic Supplies won a 3 to 1 decision over Town Tavern at Liberty park in games of the Commercial league.

Isalys had a 10 to 1 lead over Humphryes by the end of the second inning and scoring four in the fourth and six more in the sixth, they won by a large margin.

K. Windsor, pitching for Town Tavern, let the Athletic Supplies make two hits good in the first inning. The Supplies holding Town Tavern to one run in the second and scoring one in the third held that 3 to 1 lead to win the game.

The N. & W. Coalmen and Tappans played to the seventh inning and called the game because of darkness. Their score by innings was as follows:

Tappans	1-0-2-0-2-2-0—7
N. & W. Coal	1-0-2-0-2-2-0—7

ARMY VISIONS 3 YEARS' LEAD IN WARPLANES

Wright Field 'Idea Men' Must Keep Ahead of Procession.

WRIGHT FIELD—(U.P.)—Experimental engineers—or "idea men"—at the army air corps' important base at Wright Field have set a goal to be "three years ahead of the procession" in the perfection of fighting aircraft.

To help bolster the air arm, research men strive constantly to complete specifications for new war planes that will surpass those of any other nation three years hence.

The "idea men" are dreamers, men with imagination and vision.

Back of all this, officials admit the men must have a "stabilizing background of the vast store of technical knowledge compiled in 23 years of air corps research and experimentation."

The army's newest models, even the "dream ships" now under construction, are not new "inventions." They are products of long years of development.

Most spectacular of the new American warplanes is the gigantic XB-19, huge 210-foot-winged bomber, now under construction at Santa Monica, Cal. The giant bomber, designed with an 8,000-mile range to enable it to fly to Europe and back nonstop, is an excellent example of long range planning and development.

That bomber, however, is an enlarged development of the biggest bomber the army now operates—the B-15, a 150-foot-winged, four-engine plane that holds world records for load-carrying and long-range flying.

The B-15 in turn is one step in size and development beyond the first four-motor monoplane bombers of the army, the B-17 Flying Fortresses, now in production on a large scale.

The 'idea men" decide what top speed may be expected, what rate to climb the ship must have, how fast it may land with safety and how much space can be required to take off and land.

They set down estimates of the range a plane should have and the "ceiling" required. They determine the load a plane may carry, including the crew size, weight of fuel, equipment, bomb load and armament.

The island of Malta, objective of many Italian air raids, has been under British rule since 1800.

Authentic Jungle Film.

For 27 years Osa and Martin Johnson penetrated the jungles by camel, auto and finally by air. And their cameras never stopped turning. The record of that thrilling period is now showing at the Park theater under the title, "I Married Adventure," based on Osa Johnson's Book-of-the-Month club masterpiece. Battles between jungle beasts, intimate pictures of cannibals who did not know they were being filmed and the perilous moments faced by the Johnsons to get their pictures are all recorded in the picture. Louise M. Alcott's "Little Men" is the second attraction.

Smashes Chain Gang.

The battle of a governor to smash the chain-gang system in his state furnishes plenty of action in "The Big Boss," opening at the Majestic Friday. Otto Kruger is seen in the title role of a ruthless politician who finds an enemy in the governor, enacted by John Litel, and a blonde political reporter played by Gloria Dickson. Galloping hoofs and blazing guns enliven "North From the Lone Star," showing as the second picture.

"Captain Andy" Back.

Charles Winninger, who appeared in his first Ziegfeld Follies in 1920 and returned to Ziegfeld as Captain Andy of the original "Showboat," is back in his element in "Ziegfeld Girl," showing at the Ohio. He is teamed with Al Shean of the original Ziegfeld comedy duo, Gallagher and Shean, and enacts the role of "Pop," Gallagher. The all-star cast of the spectacular film musical is topped by James Stewart, Judy Garland, Lana Turner, Tony Martin, and Hedy Lamarr.

Gaucho Game Revived.

"El Pato," a gaucho game that was outlawed for many years by the Agentine government because of its menace to life and limb, is introduced in the filmusical, "They Met in Argentina," showing at the Madison. Teamed with Maureen O'Hara and James Ellison in the romance of an American engineer and a Latin beauty is Alberto Vila, South American actor and singing favorite, Robert Barrat, Buddy Ebsen and Antonio Moreno are in the picture. "Knockout," a romance of the ringside and the second picture has Arthur Kennedy and Olympe Bradna.

Underworld Drama.

Amid simple country folk the young son of a gangster learns commendable human qualities in "The Penalty," gripping drama of the underworld showing at the Ritz. Gangster battles and bank hold-ups furnish action as the boy, Gene Reynolds, helps his father escape from G-men. Edward Arnold plays the father and Lionel Barrymore the New England philosopher who influences the boy's life. Marsha Hunt is in the cast. "Sleepers West," is the second attraction.

50 THEATER TICKETS OFFERED WINNERS IN JOHN DOE CONTEST

John Doe is being hunted in Mansfield. He is that famous human being that you have passed hundreds of times in the street without thinking about him.

The Mansfield News-Journal is co-operating with the management of the Ohio theater in offering rewards for the best information that will identify Mansfield's average citizen by sponsoring a contest in connection with the picture, "Meet John Doe," opening Saturday at the Ohio theater.

All you need to do is enter the contest and produce the man you believe typifies Mansfield's John Doe. As a reward five pairs of four tickets and 15 pairs of tickets for "Meet John Doe," will be presented to the winners.

The contest is open to both men and women and entries addressed to The News-Journal contest editor, must be postmarked not later than 6 p. m. Saturday night.

Men may even nominate themselves for the contest and wives may nominate their husbands. If you plan to nominate some acquaintance be sure to get his permission to use his name. Entries describing a fictitious person will not be considered.

To enter you must answer 14 questions and then give the reasons why you think you, or your nominee, qualifies as Mansfield's John Doe. The answers to the questions when totaled are to assist the judges in deciding just what John Doe is like.

Here are the questions: (1) Do you have a hobby, if so, what is it? (2) Do you belong to a lodge? (3) What is your chief recreation? (4) What is the extent of your education? (5) Do you carry insurance? (6) Do you have a bank account? (7) Do you budget your income? (8) Do you vote? (9) Do you have a charge account? (10) Do you subscribe to a daily newspaper? (11) Do you have a family doctor? (12) Do you have a telephone? (13) Do you own your home? (14) Do you have children.

In answering the questions, simply put the number of each question opposite its answer and write on only one side of the paper. The answers to the questions will not be counted as part of the 50 words allowed each entrant for his reasons for thinking his nominee is Mansfield's John Doe.

LAW PROVIDES CONSCRIPTION

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — (U.P.) — Residents of Florida have been living under a conscription provision of the state constitution far more drastic than the Burke-Wadsworth act.

Article 14 of the state constitution reads: "All able-bodied male inhabitants of the state between the ages of 18 and 45 years that are citizens of the United States, or have declared their intention to become citizens thereof, shall constitute the militia of the state."

State Rep. William J. Ray of Bradenton pointed out that the article says "all" and not "some" able-bodied citizens, and says "shall constitute the militia," not "may."

Cooper, Stanwyck In 'John Doe'

CHAPTER XXV

Frantically, her eyes roved around in search of Rex. She desperately needed him now.

"I'm glad you like me. I'm the good fairy from The Wizard of Oz'," said Rosalind, looking as pretty in her pink tulle gown as Raye had ever seen her.

Rosalind gayly waved her silver star wand now. "See! I can make all sorts of nice things come true!" she said flippantly.

"The good fairy! Quite apropos!" burst impulsively from Raye. Hadn't Rosalind been just that to Bill?

Raye saw the deep flush that had crept into Bill's drawn face. She gave a brittle little laugh and turned away.

Bill indignantly told himself that he was grateful to Rex Maine, now representing a heavily decorated ambassador, for coming up and leading Raye off.

The only part of it that he resented was Rex's proprietary air toward Raye. What right had the fellow to assume that? Bill began to wonder if there could be anything serious between Raye and Rex.

Was that the reason she had been snubbing him? Bill asked himself. Was she trying with actions, rather than with words, to tell him that she no longer loved him?

Raye went with Rex to the ballroom, outwardly exhibiting jubilant party spirits, but inwardly feeling quite different. If she could only get rid of that queer twist in her heart which was making her utterly insensible to her surroundings.

She wondered if she would ever get over her foolish reactions to the looks and words of Bill Anderson. Why was she so easily moved by that clear-cut jawline of his, by the gleaming lights in his tow-colored hair, by the long muscular strength of him? Why should she be concerned now over the faint shadows under his intense hazel eyes—shadows no doubt caused by his recent suffering? He had lost most of his tan, too, and he was a little too thin. Perhaps she was being horribly callous toward a man who had saved her life, even if he were acting simply disgusting about marrying an heiress. He had looked so troubled. Was it over that Hal Bedford case? Queer how everything concerning it had suddenly died down—nothing about it in the newspapers lately.

The orchestra in the hotel ballroom was one of the best in the country. Rex danced Raye off with swirling steps that left her breathless and mercifully made her forget for the time being all doubts and surmises.

Never had Rex looked more desirable than he did tonight and he had been a staunch friend she would never forget. She thought now of what an effort it must have been for him to keep his promise during the past few weeks—his promise not to pester her with his proposals of marriage.

Perhaps the thought of marriage, so poignantly in her mind now as the music stopped, was telegraphed to Rex, for he led her into a deserted corner of the corridor adjoining the ballroom.

They sat down on a leather divan.

"You certainly do a mean rhumba, Rex!" She gave him one of her best smiles. "I'm simply—winded!"

"Life with me would be like that—one mad whirl," he said, and not lightly.

She locked her hands loosely in her lap and fastened her gaze on the toe of her silver slipper.

"May I continue?" he asked, wistfully low.

Whether seeing Rosalind with Bill again had filled her with desperation, or whether the tender waltz melody now floating from the ballroom touched her emotions in some new way, Raye could not quite decide. Anyway, Bill Anderson, engaged to Rosalind, had attempted once too often to play at love and she had to do something—anything that would send her immediately out of his reach.

She realized that Rex was again about to implore her to marry him. Perhaps it would be the best for all concerned if she accepted him.

"I know what you'd like," she told him, with something like a death knell sounding in her heart. She was quite aware that she was about to burn her bridges behind her.

"If your offer still stands, Rex—I'll—I'll marry you," Raye said in an even, emotionless voice.

"Wh-at?" Rex was completely stunned. For months, for years, he'd been longing to hear her say just this, longing to get even a tentative promise from her. And now . . .

"Darling—my darling," he muttered unbelievingly.

He grasped both her hands in his and held them tightly. Other couples were wandering into the corridor now or he would have gathered her in his arms and kissed her over and over again.

She drew her hands away, saying tautly, "I'm sorry to remind you, Rex—but I still don't love you. I shall always respect you, appreciate your wonderful talents. In fact, I suppose I do think you're rather—rather perfect."

Rex laughed happily. "That's all I want to know!" he declared confidently. "Love will come. I'll be so good to you, darling, you'll have to love me."

He flung an arm over the back of the seat and dropped a hand on her shoulder.

"I've some good news for you, dear—I know you'll be glad about it. You'll never have to worry over the Hal Bedford shooting again!"

She sat up straight. "Why, Rex—what do you mean?"

"Yes, darling — there'll be no trial. We can be married and fly to Hollywood whenever you say the word. How's that?"

"Oh, Rex! Have they given up trying to find the person who shot Hal? That's the best news I've—"

"The person has been found. It seems that Lydia Edison's number one husband had always been furiously jealous of her. In fact, she promised to marry him again after divorcing Edison—then began sailing around with Hal Bedford. Crazed ex-husband shoots handsome rival—that's the story in a nutshell."

"The ex-husband confessed?"

"Yes. He fell off somebody's yacht a few days ago, contracted pneumonia and, just before dying, confessed everything."

"How did you discover all this?"

"Hal, in one of his confidential moments—a few drinks and he lets out the family skeletons—you know — told me the whole story. His father has had the scandal hushed up—it won't be in the papers."

"How relieved Bill Anderson will be," came slowly from Raye.

"Oh, Bill got out of that predicament some weeks ago! The instant I heard he'd been accused, I hotfooted it down to the police and explained he was in my apartment at the time of the shooting. A crowd of men were there for poker and he didn't leave the place all night."

"How—how wonderful of you, Rex!"

"Not at all. Bill deserves a break. He has one now, I understand. Mr. Grinner has taken him into his office—given him a fine start."

Raye was silent. She wanted to cry with relief and could not trust herself to speak.

"Do you know, he's the only man I felt the least nervous about, so far as you were concerned, darling?" Rex continued, almost gayly. "Would you believe I once had the foolish notion you thought too well of him?"

"I do—think well of him," she said quickly. But it took all the will power she could command to sound so indifferent. "You don't have to worry—he's engaged to Rosalind Grinner."

"So—that's it! That explains Mr. Grinner's interest in him somewhat—although Bill Anderson's the sort who's bound to get places on merit. He's a fine chap—I'm glad he's found his opportunity. But if a man had to take Rosalind along with it—it would be a heavy order. What do you think?"

"Oh, Rosalind has her good qualities."

"I'll be darned if I've ever found them!" declared Rex. "I can't quite understand how any man could fall for her."

"Piqua Man Has Good Reasons To Thank BEE BEE'S"

Says His Back and Legs Were Full of Stabbing Rheumatic Pains. His Feet Would Swell Badly and Was Never Free From Nightly Kidney Disturbances. Now Enjoys Restful Sleep. Gives All Credit to Bee Bee's.

"For some time I have been having trouble with my kidneys," said Mr. N. T. Orr, 72 years of age, of 205 N. Wayne St., Piqua, Ohio. "I would have to get up from three to four times a night and this of course broke up my sleep and I felt tired in the morning and couldn't seem to get rested all day. I had sharp nagging pains around my kidneys that seemed to bother me worse in cold weather and my urination was difficult. My feet were swollen and I would wake up at nights with cramps in my legs. My head was so dizzy that I would reel while I was out walking. After taking Bee Bee's all my above troubles just seemed to gradually disappear. Bee Bee's fit my case perfectly and I cheerfully recommend this grand medicine to all who suffer as I did."

"Try this Spry FULL FLAVOR Orangeade Cake— it's a NEW receipt an' a dandy!"

says AUNT JENNY

Spry FULL FLAVOR Orangeade Cake
Tangy and fragrant as the fruit itself!

½ cup Spry
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, unbeaten
1 cup nuts, finely chopped
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
2 cups sifted flour
1 cup sour cream
½ cup orange juice

Blend Spry, salt and orange rind. Add sugar gradually and cream well. (You'll marvel how quickly and easily Spry mixes.) Add eggs, singly, beating well after each addition. Sift soda and baking powder with flour 3 times. Add flour to creamed mixture, alternately with sour cream and orange juice, blending after each addition until smooth. Add nuts and blend. Bake in Spry-coated 10x10x2-inch pan in moderate oven (350° F.) 45 to 50 minutes.

Topping for Cake

½ cup sugar
½ cup orange juice
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
½ cup lemon juice
3 orange sections, skinned, to decorate top of cake (optional)

Place above ingredients in bowl and warm over steam while cake is baking. Drain orange sections. Pour fruit juices over cake as soon as it is removed from the oven. Decorate top with orange sections, one for each serving. What a quick easy way to "ice" a cake and how delicious! For purer Spry doesn't "dim" the delightful orange taste. Don't risk ordinary shortenings. Use purer Spry in this and every cake to make sure of getting the tempting FULL flavor. (All measurements level)

ICED IN TWO TICKS—Just pour sweetened fruit juice over the cake when it's hot out of the oven. Part seeps through, the rest forms a fresh fruit glaze on top.

REAL ORANGE FLAVOR—yes sir! Purer Spry doesn't "smother" it as ordinary shortenin's might. You get the FULL tangy taste of the fresh orange juice an' grated orange rind. An' tender—why, I'm tellin' you, this cake just melts in your mouth! Take my advice, folks, an' make one this very day.

Want a raft of compliments? Bake the Spry FULL FLAVOR way!

NO FAINT, wishy-washy flavor about a Spry cake! Whether you use chocolate, spices or fruit flavorings as in this cake, purer Spry always lets you get the FULL rich taste of the ingredients. It's a real flavor saver.

And Spry cakes are lighter cakes—money-saving cakes, too! Spry costs just about half as much as expensive cake shortening. Try Spry one week for all baking and frying. You'll never go back to ordinary shortenings again.

PATROL BOATS TO FORM NAVY OF PHILIPPINES

Mosquito Fleet Program Calls For 36 Craft Within Five Years.

MANILA—(U.P.)—The Philippine Commonwealth, which has a regular army trained under American methods, has begun to create an air force and an offshore patrol force of small, speedy torpedo-boats.

The offshore patrol, like the air corps, is under the army, the Philippines having no navy. It has been nicknamed the "Philippine army on water," and at present counts with two boats, the Q-111 and the Q-112.

Philippine army authorities envisage a large-scale expansion of the O. S. P., as the patrol is called, into a force divided into three squadrons—one based at Manila, another somewhere in the Visayan Islands, and the third in Mindanao. Present plans call for the construction of 36 Q-boats by 1946. Each vessel will cost approximately $75,000.

Difficulty in obtaining equipment abroad because of the war has caused a delay in the expansion of the O. S. P. The Philippine army, however, has adopted a plan to build the hulls of Q-boats locally and buy only engines abroad. The hull of a Q-boat is under construction in Manila now.

The O. S. P. was organized in January, 1939, and its two craft were purchased in that year. Painted dark gray, the two sleek boats have a maximum speed of 45 knots and carry not only torpedoes but also depth bombs, .50 caliber machine guns, and radio receiving and transmitting sets. A graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy, Capt. Jose A. Andrada, is acting O. S. P. chief.

Philippine army authorities believe that a fleet of mosquito boats would be the best possible naval protection for a small nation unable to build a navy comparable to that of major power. A capital ship would cost approximately $60,000,000, equivalent to the cost of about 1,000 mosquito boats. Experts believe that a well organized and welf handled mosquito fleet, supported by an adequate air force, could give plenty of trouble to an invading force.

European war reports have mentioned successful operations in coastal areas of boats similar to those of the O. P. S. A new type torpedoboat was reported being used by the British navy and two Nazi war vessels were reported to have been sunk off Norway by boats of this type.

The O. S P. operates a school in Manila, which trains students in the handling of torpedoes and machine guns, navigation, radio communication, and other aspects of mosquito fleet work.

The Philippine army air corps, organized in 1935, is at present concentrating on the training of pilots, and hopes to have between 500 and 600 pilots by 1946. The air corps counts with only 41 planes, most of which are training craft. Twelve more planes are expected to be added to the force this year. The Philippine army is not exerting much effort to obtain fighting planes in the belief that present models would be obsolete before the air corps could have an adequately trained force of pilots.

Philippine army air training is patterned after American methods and graduates of the PA flying school are believed to compare favorably with those of any school of the same category. The air corps now has about 80 pilots. The acting chief of corps is Major Charles Backes, of the U. S. army air corps

Michigan Co-ed Whittles Her Way Through College

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. —(INS)— Jane Hudson of Detroit, Mich., is one girl who literally carved out a place for herself in college.

A student at Indiana University here, she uses a 75-cent pocketknife to whittle sufficient wooden novelties. I. U. monograms and Greek letter sorority emblems to pay all her college expenses. The funny-looking little animals that girls like to wear as lapel ornaments have been the source of tuition funds, clothing and spending money for the coed.

Getting her start in this novel business when she carved a funny little horse out of a door while serving as handicraft counselor at a girls' camp in 1939, Jane soon found her work much in demand among the girls.

Jane whittles any place—at her sorority house, at "coke" sessions in the Commons—even in classes, if the professors don't object.

NEED VITAMINS

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. — (INS) —After extensive tests on rats, Pennsylvania State College nutritional chemists have announced that soldiers need more vitamin B-1 than civilians.

Chemists reported that bodily requirements of the vitamin increased in direct proportion to the amount of muscular activity and in substantiation of their feelings, declared that rats developed symptoms of beriberi when insufficient quantities of the vitamin were supplied.

WEBS INTERRUPT PHONE SERVICE

BELLE GLADE, Fla.—(U.P.)—Static interference reported by subscribers in the Florida Everglades perplexed telephone officials for several days until they discovered the cause was—spiders.

They found that webs spun by the spiders from one line to another conducted electricity when damp, interfering with connections.

The solution: men with long-handled wire brooms now sweep the lines periodically.

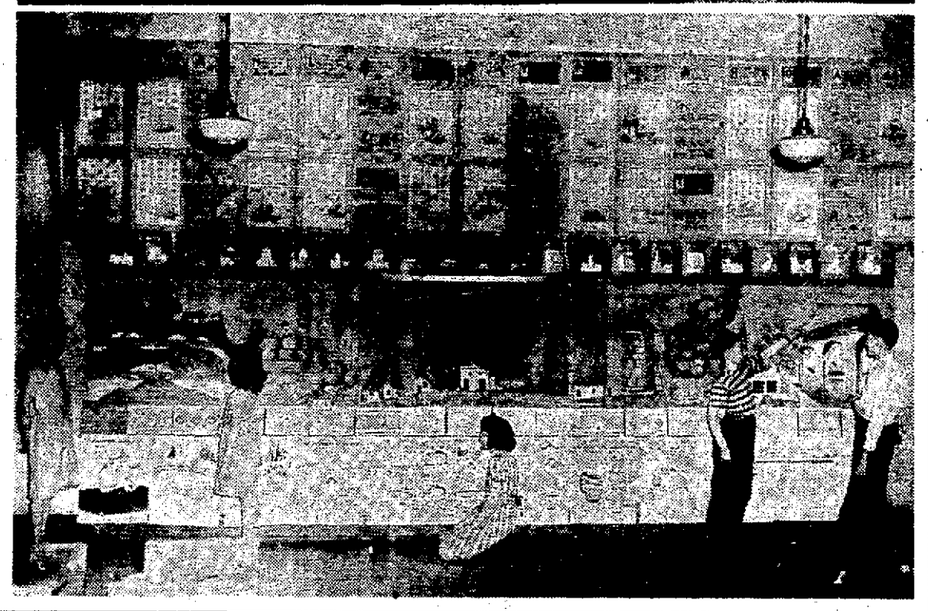
Exhibit Art, Handicraft Work at St. Peter's School Today



Hundreds of visitors were expected at St. Peter's school today for the annual exhibit of art, handicraft and other phases of school work. No classes were held as the day was celebrated as Ascension Thursday, but pupils returned to the schoolroom to visit the exhibit with their parents. Class projects were emphasized in wall murals and other displays. In the picture shown at the upper left several pupils are viewing "The Enthronement of the Sacred Heart," fifth grade project. The pupils, left to right, are Grace Dillon, Mary Ann Eichinger and Colette Dalten. Pictured below is the petroleum mural made by the seventh grade. Viewing the exhibit, left to right, are, Doris Blank, Florentine Raphael, Marilyn Austin, Edward Dillon, and Adrian Dougherty. The milk project of the first grade, exhibited in the upper right picture, is being inspected by Patricia Ann Tesch.

FBI MOBILIZES U. S. POLICE TO GUARD INTERNAL SECURITY

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Director J. Edgar Hoover announced today that the federal bureau of investigation, in the interests of national defense, was conducting a voluntary mobilization of virtually every law enforcement agency in the United States.

The effect of the cooperative program, the FBI chief said, was the welding of most of the country's 150,000 police officers into "an active, vigilant, alert army safeguarding the internal security of the nation."

The key of the plan, Hoover explained, was the interchange of information between leading law enforcement officials and representatives of the FBI working out of 54 strategically located field offices.

State, county and city police will turn over to the FBI all information concerning national defense matters. The bureau correlates such tips in the hope of finding a pattern which will lead to solution of a crime or prevention of one.

In addition, the FBI meets with the law officers of hundreds of cities several times a year. At these sessions experts pass on the latest methods of crime prevention and detection, and also discuss wartime law enforcement problems.

Hoover said that the voluntary plan was expected to have these results:

1. Bring police officials together for a nationally coordinated public service and demonstrate that there is no need for a national police.

2. Help eliminate through cooperation some of the jurisdictional limitations which frequently hamper city, county or state officials.

3. Raise the standards of law enforcement through an interchange of knowledge, increase the proficiency of all officers and tend to standardize police reports.

4. Afford a maximum protection against sabotage and espionage as well as set up a tremendous investigative system.

FIVE DIE AS FIRE DESTROYS HOME

Fremont Family Perishes In Early Morning Blaze; Help Futile.

(By Associated Press)

FREMONT — A family of five perished in a fire that swept their one-room home three miles southwest of here at dawn today.

The victims were Frank Townsen, 33, an auto wrecking firm employe; his wife, Elsie, 30, and their three children, Jay, 10, Janice, 5, and Frank, 3.

Townsen's body was found near an oil stove and authorities theorized that he might have been attempting to start it when the fire broke out.

W. M. Slane, 66, who lived nearby and whose small home was destroyed by spreading flames, said he was up at the time but heard neither an explosion nor any outcry.

The fire was discovered by Slane's 12-year-old son, Lester, but efforts to enter the Townsen home were futile.

Fire equipment was sent to the scene, but the small home virtually was destroyed before water could be applied.

1,250 DOGS

RICHMOND, Va.—(U.P.)—More than 1,250 dogs with nary a bark or bite make up the hobby of three 12-year-old Richmond youngsters.

The children—Pat Cecil, Betty Bowe Wallace and Freddie Scott—collect toy dogs, study them and hold their own miniature dog shows.

Dogs in the collection range from mite-sized porcelain pups to shaggy ones a foot high.

Officer Shoqts In Air And 'Hits' Fleeing Fugitive

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—(INS)—If all Kansas City policemen were as tough as this one, the municipal administration might save money on bullets.

While pursuing a man involved in a street brawl, Patrolman Chester Groham pulled out his revolver and fired. Gaping bystanders ducked, and the fleeing man dropped on his face, screaming "I'm shot."

Graham grinned broadly while the "injured" man groaned pitifully. Bystanders might have thought the patrolman had a "heart of stone," but the truth was that Officer Graham knew he couldn't have hurt the man—he fired into the air.

Later, examination disclosed no wounds, but the man did suffer a bad case of fright.

RECOVERY NOTE CONTINUED BY SEVERAL ISSUES

Leaders Act as Though They Had Run Out of Ammunition as Dealings Slow Down.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Mild forward tendencies persisted for scattered stocks in today's market but many leaders acted as though they had run out of recovery ammunition.

Dealings slowed and, while fractional gains were fairly well distributed near the second hour, an assortment of minus signs was in evidence.

War, labor and tax factors, brokers said, continued to keep many customers in the conservative ranks.

Holders of farm equipment shares noted estimated 1941 sales in this field would set a record but, due to higher taxes and lower profit margins, net earnings of some manufacturers, although topping those of 1940, would be well under the 1937 levels.

Those following shipbuilding company stocks found some encouragement in reports a new emergency ship construction program would be laid before the president within the next six weeks.

36—City Homes For Sale

"Woodland Special"
We have taken the buyer's position in the matter of considering this property rather than the selfish attitude of the seller. Therefore we have asked ourselves WHAT'S so hot about this valuation from the buyer's viewpoint. The answer is this: It's located on one of the best residential streets in WOODLAND. That's something: It's a Colonial full brick veneer. That means no waste space. It possesses all of the very latest built-in features with large, spacious rooms and has one of the loveliest, most modern kitchens we have seen in a long time with extras such as extra toilet and lavatory off kitchen, recreation room, insulation, gorgeous tile bath, master bedroom for twin beds, two other beautiful bedrooms, cedar closet, automatic vapor heat, beautiful lot shrubbed, double garage overhead doors. SHEPARD ROAD location. Owner leaving city says SELL, I'll take my loss, $9,800. TERMS. Call us NOW for appointment. Huff Realty Co. Canal 2277-6, Spring 4686-4, Canal 3644-6.

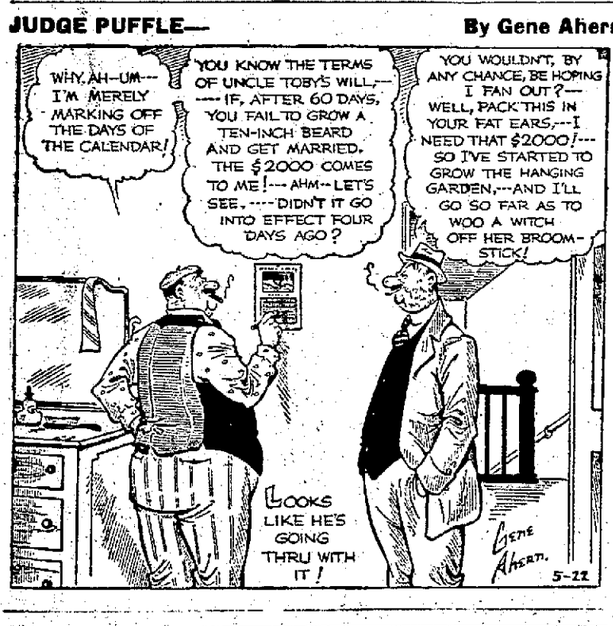
JUDGE PUFFLE— By Gene Ahern



WHY, AH-UM— I'M MERELY MARKING OFF THE DAYS OF THE CALENDAR!
YOU KNOW THE TERMS OF UNCLE TOBY'S WILL,— —IF, AFTER 60 DAYS, YOU FAIL TO GROW A TEN-INCH BEARD AND GET MARRIED, THE $2000 COMES TO ME!— AHM— LET'S SEE,— DIDN'T IT GO INTO EFFECT FOUR DAYS AGO?
YOU WOULDN'T, BY ANY CHANCE, BE HOPING I FAN OUT?— WELL, PACK THIS IN YOUR FAT EARS,— I NEED THAT $2000!— SO I'VE STARTED TO GROW THE HANGING GARDEN,— AND I'LL GO SO FAR AS TO WOO A WITCH OFF HER BROOMSTICK!
LOOKS LIKE HE'S GOING THRU WITH IT!

ASK 4 BILLIONS MORE FOR ARMS

Defense Officials Want War Department to Get Funds For Tanks and Planes.

high $12,000,000,000 armament bill voted during the World war.

Congressmen who have learned of the proposal have started intensive speculation concerning it—some declaring it must mean officialdom expects this country to be at war soon while others interpret it to mean Britain's plight necessitates the tremendous set-up.

War department officials were quoted as telling congressmen that they did not know the reasons back of the request—which was attributed to the office of production management.

The department was depicted as taking the position that until it was informed just what was the sudden need for such an increase, it would be loath to ask congress officially for it.

Congressmen said the department felt that to a certain extent it was being "needled" by the OPM. It was pointed out that such a request must be justified to congress and that before congress will vote it the matter would have to be thrashed out publicly on the floor.

The OPM plan, according to these sources, was to have the department simply ask for the money for tanks and planes without explaining just why they were needed at this time.

It was recalled in this connection that Secretary of commerce Jesse Jones indicated to a senate committee that was considering funds for synthetic rubber plants that he, Jones, was not too enthusiastic about it, but that the OPM insisted on it.

CASE GOES TO JUVENILE COURT

Girl Under Indictment for Murder At Youngstown.

YOUNGSTOWN—(U.P.)—The case of Jane McKnight Cox, 14-year-old wife of a Coshocton man, today was assigned to the Mahoning county juvenile court for disposition. She is under indictment for murder and three other counts arising from purse snatching crimes in Youngstown.

Eileen Sullivan, 16; Owen Bickle and Harold Cox, husband of Jane, also are under indictments for murder in the death of Mrs. Alphonsus Foley, mother of nine children, shot fatally on March 10

The case of Miss Sullivan is expected to be turned over to juvenile court.

NAZIS SAY U. S. TO ATTACK ISLE

Martinique Named as Target For 'Assault' In Reports From Paris.

advisable for the United States to take any steps.

After Tuesday's frank exchange of opinions between Secretary Hull and Gaston Henry-Haye, the French ambassador, the United States was understood to be waiting for a formal written declaration from the Vichy government, detailing the extent of the "collaboration" it has pledged Germany henceforth.

Pending that French declaration it was said, the United States planned no action which would change the status of French colonies, food shipments to unoccupied France, supplies shipments to the French North African colonies, or other questions under consideration between the two governments.

Germany's request that the United States withdraw diplomatic representatives from Paris was expected to make no change in the situation since the only American officials left in the French capitol are consular officers.

Senator George expressed the belief that while collaboration between France and Germany "naturally concerns us, and puts some new dark lines in the picture as a whole it probably will have no immediate effect on this hemisphere."
